The waivers were granted in anticipation of future distributions which may be declared by the Companies as per the attached indicative distributions calendar and CDI issuance/cancellation deferral schedule.

The waivers permit each of the Companies to defer processing of CDI conversions between the principal register in the US and the CDI register in Australia, on certain days during the anticipated distribution periods (see details in the attached calendar), so to prevent these registers suffering any misalignment due to time zone and holiday differences.

Until such time as either of the Companies announces a Fund distribution, all dates in the attached calendar remain indicative and are subject to change.

For the avoidance of doubt, deferring processing of CDI conversions will not affect trading in iShares funds quoted on ASX.

The waiver expires on 28 February 2018.
