Further Update on impact of Tropical Cyclone Debbie

Further to the last announcement of 4th April, Realm advises that Aurizon Holdings has announced that the Goonyella rail system is due to re-open on 26th April, following repairs as a result of ex tropical cyclone Debbie. The system will initially operate with some speed restrictions, which will be reviewed once trains are utilising the rail network.

While the rail network has been unserviceable, Foxleigh mine has been producing and stockpiling run of mine coal, while undertaking maintenance works in the coal handling and preparation plant. Washing of coal will resume when the rail network is opened and Foxleigh can resume railing coal to Dalrymple Bay Coal Terminal for shipment to customers.

The Company is pleased to announce that during the hiatus in railing, the company's port stockpile has been shipped. Proceeds from this and an earlier shipment have delivered revenue during the stoppage period.
