Announcement regarding Precision Tracking litigation

Domino's Pizza Enterprises Limited (DPE) notes recent media coverage concerning legal action between DPE and Precision Tracking Pty Ltd (PT).

Last week DPE became aware of new information obtained on subpoena that caused DPE to believe its confidential information had been misused.

Yesterday, DPE successfully applied for and obtained leave from the Federal Court of Australia to amend its claim and defence to cross-claim. The amendments include a new claim for breach of DPE's confidential information and the joinder of Delivery Command Pty Ltd, a party related to PT. The consequence of the amendments to DPE's pleadings is that the Court has adjourned the current hearing to a date to be fixed, not expected to be before July 2018.

DPE denies all claims made by PT and is vigorously defending the proceedings brought by PT.
