CORRECTION TO FOOTNOTE IN NEWSLETTER

Dear Sir/Madam

Ellerston Global Investments Limited (ASX: EGI) wishes to advise that the footnote in the newsletter submitted to the ASX on 11 May 2018 was incorrect. The newsletter stated that the total amount in the dividend profit reserve was 4.1 cents per share 'based on the total shares on issue as at 30/04/18 and before the payment of the most recently declared dividends'. However, the footnote should have stated that the dividend profit reserve was calculated ex-dividend.

We enclose a corrected version of the newsletter.

Yours sincerely

Ian Kelly
Company Secretary

Portfolio Update

The EGI portfolio decreased 0.37% net during the month of April. The NTA (before tax) at the end of April was $1.1248. During the month EGI went ex-dividend with a 2.5 cent fully franked interim dividend (1.5cps interim dividend + 1.0cps special dividend) with a payment date of 18th May 2018. Also in April, 17,868,634 options were exercised and converted to shares which diluted the NTA after realised tax by 3.0 cents per share. The NTA per share is calculated ex-dividend and ex-dilution.

Contributors to performance included The Stars Group, Zayo and Interxion. Detractors from performance included Philips Lighting, Acuity Brands and Equiniti. EGI had 9 companies report earnings in April.

The Stars Group was the standout performer, up over 16% in the month after announcing on 21 April 2018 that it was acquiring UK based Sky Betting & Gaming (SBG). The company transforming deal for £3.4b (US$4.7b) is part cash (£2.6b) plus 37.9m newly issued Star Group common shares (representing c20% of Stars Group following completion of the transaction). SBG is the UK's fastest growing online sportsbook (with 80% of revenue generated from mobile) and is one the UK's leading online gaming providers. With the majority of SBG's revenues generated by sports betting, the world's largest and fastest growing online gaming segment, the acquisition provides Stars with greater revenue diversification (poker revenue will reduce from 54% to 37% of total revenue), an increased presence in regulated markets (75% revenue regulated post deal) as well as another low cost customer acquisition channel to more effectively cross-sell to players across multiple verticals (sports, casino and poker). Stars has identified cost synergies of at least US$70m per year. We are excited by this transaction set to close Q318. Upon close, The Stars Group will be the largest listed global online gaming company with pro forma US$2.41b in revenue. In addition, while option value, the deal provides The Stars Group with strong sportsbook expertise ahead of the possible legalisation of sports betting in the US.

Both Acuity and Philips Lighting reported disappointing earnings. While Philips' Professional segment showed solid growth, its fast growing Home division hit a temporary speed bump with unexpectedly higher inventory levels sitting with trade partners in Q118. While we are firm believers in the future of connected lighting, the industry is facing a weak US lighting market and the competitive landscape is becoming more difficult to assess. This has weighed on our conviction levels. Ultimately, we may be too early on this thematic and the path forward is uncertain. We have exited both positions at this point.

Market Commentary

Global equity markets rebounded modestly from the depressed levels in March as markets assessed the prospects of a trade war and geopolitical tensions eased. The MSCI World Index was up 1.94%. It was a choppy start to the month, as US sanctions hit metal prices and Russian companies (and the oligarchs who own those companies) extremely hard. Volatility, as measured by the VIX Index, actually fell in April, while US10-year treasury yields rose sharply, finally cracking the 3% level, before ending the month marginally below the figure.

US equity markets were up in slightly in April with the S&P 500 Index and the Dow Jones Industrial Average Index +0.4% and +0.3%, respectively. After selling off early in April when trade tensions between the US and China hit fever pitch, stocks recovered their poise after Chinese President Xi struck a more appealing tone on trade. US companies also reported earnings that in aggregate were well ahead of consensus expectations. The US 10-year treasury yield briefly broke through the 3% threshold for the first time since 2014. US inflation measures remained firm and the Fed signaled its intention to keep raising rates if the positive trends in the economy continued.

In Europe, stocks rebounded strongly in April after a poor first quarter, with the Euro STOXX 50 Index returning 5.8%. France's CAC 40 and the UK's FTSE 100 were amongst the top performers, returning 7.2% and 6.8% respectively. The European Central Bank kept rates on hold in April and said that it expected "interest rates to remain at their present levels for an extended period of time, and well past the horizon of net asset purchases". A rally in aluminium and nickel prices early in the month after US sanctions were announced reversed course after the US government said it would not impose previous sanctions immediately if the oligarchs divested their interests in certain enterprises.

Asian markets were also broadly higher as trade tensions eased and relations on the Korean peninsula showed signs of improvement. The historic meeting between the leaders of North and South Korea was hailed as opening "up a new era of peace". The Hang Seng Index closed up 2.5%, while Japan's Nikkei 225 Index was up 4.7%, with investors in Japan relieved that the US did not make fresh trade demands during the summit between Prime Minister Abe and President Trump.

The ASX/S&P 200 Accumulation Index Accumulation Index ended April up 3.9%, despite the big 4 Bank share prices constrained by fallout from the Royal Commission. The ASX 200 Resources Accumulation Index was the star performer returning 9.8%.
