Nexen awards EPC contract for the Buzzard Phase II development project

WorleyParsons has been awarded an engineering, procurement and construction (EPC) contract under its long-term call off agreement with Nexen Petroleum U.K. Limited, a wholly-owned subsidiary of CNOOC Limited.

Under the contract, WorleyParsons will provide EPC services for the topsides module of Nexen's Buzzard Phase II development project. The services include module fabrication, brownfield scopes, module landing preparation and the associated tie ins, the topsides module hook-up, pre-commissioning and commissioning of the integrated package.

The services will be executed by WorleyParsons' UK Integrated Solutions Aberdeen office. Rosenberg WorleyParsons, based in Stavanger, Norway, will fabricate the topsides module.

"We are pleased to continue to work with Nexen on this project," said Andrew Wood, Chief Executive Officer of WorleyParsons.
