Genesis Energy Change in Officer

Genesis announced today that its Executive General Manager of Technology and Digital, Jennifer Cherrington, will be leaving the Company at the end of August 2018 as the technology and digital function is integrated into the wider business.

Chief Executive, Marc England, said Cherrington's role was established in 2016 to give more visibility and focus to technology as the organisation set out to advance from operating as a traditional energy company to embracing customer-led digital innovation and agile ways of working.

"In this time we have fast-tracked an industry leading overhaul of our technical capability and as a result we now have the platforms that will enable us to embed digital thinking within all our teams. Jen's leadership has supported Genesis to reach this milestone in the transformation of our business and I wish her all the best for her next endeavours."

"A process has started to integrate the technology and digital roles into Genesis' Product Marketing and Customer Operations teams as we accelerate our focus on digital customer experiences and achieving our vision of becoming customers' first choice for energy management," said England.
