Investment Objectives

- To provide absolute positive investment performance over the medium to long term, ensuring capital preservation, while providing capital growth.
- To provide an investment strategy that few investors have the capacity to implement themselves.
- To provide shareholders with a growing stream of fully franked dividends.

Corporate update

On 31 May 2019, SNC announced its intention to acquire 18.9% of the issued capital of Mercantile Investment Company Ltd (MVT) followed by an intention to make a takeover over for all the other shares it does not own by way of an NTA-for-NTA merger. Please refer to the various ASX announcements for further details. SNC's Offer has been recommended by MVT's Independent Board Committee, in the absence of a superior offer. On 12 August 2019, SNC Shareholders approved several resolutions that were required as part of the Offer. As at the date of this report, SNC has a relevant interest of 22%.

Portfolio commentary

The Portfolio was down -0.8% in July. Gross portfolio returns since inception are the equivalent of 9.0% per annum, compared to 10.1% per annum for the All Ordinaries Accumulation Index.

Iluka Resources Ltd (ILU) was the main detractor to performance for the month. BCI Minerals Ltd (BCI) was the main contributor.

The portfolio continued its recent run of underperformance relative to the market indices. Back in July 2007, Chuck Prince, then CEO of Citigroup, a large US bank, talked about his bank's appetite for funding leveraged loans. He told a reporter "as long as the music is playing, you've got to get up and dance." Although the music playing today is different, it seems many equity investors hear the music and are up on their feet, many gyrating euphorically. That euphoria seems particularly focused on companies that seem to be able to deliver high growth, especially sought after in a low growth, low interest rate world. We are not so enthusiastic. Carrying on with Prince's metaphor, we are standing with a hand on the back of a chair, perhaps tapping a foot, rather than up dancing. This is a better place to be when the music inevitably stops.

While frustrated at the underperformance, we remain steadfastly committed to our investment approach. We believe that in time, the prices investors are prepared to pay for growth (real or perceived) will face a reality check. We don't know when this reality check will come, or in what form. Based on prices being paid today for growth, we believe investors may well face significant capital losses. At best, they may experience many years of little or no returns.

Despite these comments, we continue to find investment opportunities. The investments we are making typically have lower growth and are, therefore, underappreciated by the market. Their generally solid balance sheets and often reliable cashflows make for more attractive expected returns. We believe that fishing in this pond and using our activist techniques will prove to be more lucrative over time than investing in securities that are currently priced for perfection.

We discussed our investment in Highlands Pacific (HIG) in our April newsletter. During July, the closing spot price of nickel exceeded $13,220 per tonne for 5 consecutive trading days. As a result, the contingent payment of an additional 1c/share was received in July (on top of the 10.5c/share takeover consideration previously received in May). This was the cherry on top of an investment that had already generated a very attractive, low risk return.
