CIMIC Group company CPB Contractors has reached contractual close to deliver Auckland Airport's Taxiway Mike and Remote Stands Stage 2 project, a critical component in the facility's major capital works program.

The contract will generate revenue to CPB Contractors of approximately NZ$221 million over the next two years.

CIMIC Group Chief Executive Officer Michael Wright said: "New Zealand remains an important focus for the CIMIC Group as we expand our delivery of infrastructure to benefit communities now and into the future.

"The Auckland Airport works are an important addition to our strong portfolio of transport and social infrastructure projects across the country."

CPB Contractors Managing Director Juan Santamaria said: "CPB Contractors has a strong and experienced team in New Zealand and we're proud to include Auckland Airport as a new client.

"We look forward to working closely with Auckland Airport to deliver this important project safely and efficiently."

Works include 900,000 cubic metres of earthworks, laying 130,000 cubic metres of aggregate basecourse, 168,000 square metres of concrete pavement, construction of 3,200m stormwater drainage system, runoff and treatment lagoon, and a 2,200m in-ground jet fuel network.
