About us

Founded by Shane Finemore in 2008, Manikay Partners is a partnership based global investment management firm. Manikay is SEC-registered and headquartered in New York with offices in London and Sydney. The team of seasoned investment professionals has over 25 years' industry experience on average.

Our investment style

Manikay adopts an opportunistic approach to investing and believes there is not one strategy for all market conditions and that attractive risk-adjusted returns can be achieved by constructing a portfolio with a diversified set of risks across multiple timeframes. By combining two market-neutral strategies, arbitrage and trading, with a long-term value investment strategy, Manikay creates one portfolio designed to compound over the long term while protecting capital on the downside. The trading and arbitrage strategies focus on hard catalyst events and attempt to take advantage of perceived mispricings in the market. The investment strategy takes a long-term value approach, seeking to purchase high quality businesses with a sustainable edge and high returns on capital that are trading at a significant discount to intrinsic value estimations.

Our market outlook

Manikay maintains an approximately equal amount of risk exposure in the trading and arbitrage strategies and investment strategies. Manikay believes any resolution of the US-China trade war will lead to a significant increase in global merger activity.

Investment performance data presented above is in AUD and reflects reinvestment of dividends, interest and capital gains (if any) and is net of all fees and expenses incurred by an investor who has been invested in the Fund since inception, who pays the highest management fees (2% management and 20% performance) charged by the Fund, who participates in any new issue and side-pocket investments.

Future Generation Global does not incur any performance or management fees on its investment in the Fund. All fees are rebated back to Future Generation Global by Manikay Partners.

About the Butterfly Foundation for Eating Disorders

The Butterfly Foundation for Eating Disorders supports the needs of more than one million Australians living with an eating disorder, their families and carers. The Butterfly Foundation provides evidence-based prevention, treatment and support programs as well as counselling and referrals through its National Helpline over the phone, email and webchat, seven days a week.

Butterfly and Future Generation

Funding from Future Generation supports the Youth Intensive Outpatient Program (IOP), a 10-week group therapy treatment program for young people aged between 14 and 24 years old who have early signs and symptoms of an eating disorder. The Youth IOP has consistently demonstrated positive results, where participants have shown a reduction in restraint and food avoidance behaviours while reporting that they feel better understood and connected to those around them. Future Generation also supports a new initiative, the Virtual Youth IOP which aims to help more young people across Australia regardless of their location.

Q&A with Chief Executive Officer, Kevin Barrow

What is your driving motivation in your current role?

What drives me is the desire to make Australia a better place for people living with an eating disorder and those with body image issues. At the Butterfly Foundation, we want to continually pursue innovation and change in the areas of prevention, early intervention, education, training, treatment and support.

What is the most challenging aspect of your role?

My first meeting at the Butterfly Foundation was with parents who lost their daughter after a long battle with an eating disorder. They made a donation to us, with the request that we work to stop this happening to someone else's child. That request lives with me to this day. It motivates us to push the boundaries, challenge the current system and make sure that every dollar counts to prevent such a loss occurring again.

What does it mean to have the support of Future Generation?

Future Generation is saving lives. Eating disorders have the highest mortality rate of any mental illness and we know that early intervention is key. The funding from Future Generation enables us to intervene at this early stage which we know will have the best chance of preventing the disorder from developing further. Future Generation has also recently agreed to fund our preliminary investigation into a virtual online program which will allow us to deliver care to people across Australia regardless of where they live.
