HCD to Undertake Field Trial in Alberta

Hydrocarbon Dynamics Limited (“HCD”) announces that it will undertake a field trial of its key product, HCD Multi-Flow, for a Canadian oil producer in Alberta.

In the trial, HCD Multi-Flow will be applied to a single well in a field that produces approximately 2500 barrels of oil/day from 30 wells. The objective of the trial will be to enhance production by liquefying wax and asphaltene deposition and possible plugging in the reservoir and in the production tubulars.

The trial is scheduled to commence late in March with initial results expected within 30 days.

Should HCD-Multi-Flow meet the producer’s technical and commercial requirements, HCD will work hard to secure a staged contract for HCD Multi-Flow to be applied to all wax and asphaltene affected wells in the field.
