1.2 Purpose

1.2.1 To ensure employees (including contractors and franchisees) and officers of the Fiducian Group are aware of their obligations under the Corporations Act and Fiducian Group Policy on insider trading and personal trading in respect of Fiducian Group Limited securities. This Policy has been prepared to meet the requirements of ASX Listing Rules 12.9 and 12.12 and should be read in conjunction with the Fiducian Group Code of Conduct.

2. PART A – INSIDER TRADING

2.1 Policy

- 2.1.1 If you have price-sensitive information about a company's securities or futures which is not generally available to others, under the Corporations Act, you cannot use this information to your advantage.
- 2.1.2 This covers information about the Fiducian Group, as well as information about other companies of which you become aware through your employment with the Fiducian Group.
- 2.1.3 An insider cannot trade in these securities or futures, or encourage others to trade, or give this inside information to anybody who is likely to use it to trade or get others to trade.
- 2.1.4 If, as an employee of the Fiducian Group, you breach this policy, you not only face dismissal, but also possible serious civil and criminal liability.

2.2 When are you an Insider?

- 2.2.1 You are in 'insider':
 - (a) In the case of securities or futures, if you have information which is not generally available, but if it were, it would have a material effect on the price or value of securities or future;
 - (b) In the case of securities, if you know, or should know, that this information is not generally available; and
 - (c) In the case of securities, if you know, or should know, that if the information was available it might have a material effect on the price or value of the securities.

2.3 What are Securities?

- 2.3.1 When we use the term 'securities' in this Policy it has a broad meaning. Its meaning extends to:
 - (a) Company shares (whether public, private or listed or unlisted);
 - (b) Company debentures (including convertible notes);
 - (c) Interests in a managed investment scheme made available by the company; and
 - (d) Options to buy any of the above.

2.4 What are Futures?

- 2.4.1 When we use the term 'futures' in this Policy we mean futures exchange traded options, equity swaps, futures options, or equity futures which relate to any securities of a company.

2.5 What is meant by Information?

- 2.5.1 When we use the term 'information' in this policy we mean any fact, matter or circumstance, any supposition or any matter relating to the intention or likely intention of a person.

2.6 What is Information generally available?

2.6.1 Information is generally available if it is readily observable, if it has become known in a way which is likely to bring it to the notice of people who commonly invest in securities or futures, or if a reasonable period has passed for it to spread to those people.

2.7 What is price-sensitive?

2.7.1 Information is 'price-sensitive' when a reasonable person would expect it to have a material effect on the price or value of the securities.

2.8 What is a material effect?

2.8.1 Information has a material effect if it has the potential to influence people who commonly invest in securities in their decision to trade or not to trade in these securities or futures.

2.9 Examples of Inside Information

2.9.1 You may come into possession of inside information if you become aware of any of the following when it is not generally available:

- (a) Actual or internal forecast profit results;
- (b) Details of a new discovery, new product or substantial new business contract;
- (c) The appointment or resignation of a chief executive officer, executive director or chairman;
- (d) A float, takeover, merger, purchase, sale or partial sale of business;
- (e) Actual or proposed major litigation; or
- (f) Any plans involving securities or securities futures.

2.9.2 This information may relate to the Fiducian Group, a corporate client, or any other company.

2.9.3 In addition, as an employee, you may come into possession of inside information if you are directly involved in relationship management, research, structuring products, or advising a corporate client.

2.10 Rules for when you are an Insider

2.10.1 You must follow the rules below if you are an insider.

- (a) You must not subscribe for, buy or sell securities of the company to which the inside information relates, either for yourself, or for another person.
- (b) You must not get another person to subscribe for, buy or sell the affected securities for you, for another person or for themselves. (This includes a family member, friend, associate, colleague or your private company or trust.)
- (c) If the affected securities are also listed on a securities exchange, you must not, either directly or indirectly, give the inside information, or allow it to be given to another person who you know, or should know, would be likely to do any of the prohibited things described above.

- (d) With regard to futures which relate to a company's (including Fiducian Group Limited's) securities, you must not acquire or dispose of these futures, or offer or agree to acquire or dispose of these futures or attempt to induce others to do so (including family, associates, colleagues, private company or trust).
- (e) With regard to securities or futures relating to a company in respect of which you are the adviser, you must not subscribe for, acquire or dispose of or offer or agree to acquire or dispose of them or attempt to influence others to do so (including family, associates, colleagues, private company or trust).
- (f) If you liaise with industry analysts or business journalists working on the business activities of the Fiducian Group, you must not give them any inside information about Fiducian or its subsidiaries or confirm for them any suspicions or 'hunches' which they may have, even if these hunches are based on their own research and analysis.

2.11 When are you no longer an Insider?

2.11.1 You will no longer be an insider once the inside information:

- (a) Becomes readily available;
- (b) Becomes known in a way which is likely to bring it to the attention of people who commonly invest in securities; and
- (c) When a reasonable period has elapsed for the information to come to public notice, for example, when an announcement has been released to the Australian Securities Exchange.

2.12 When your job makes you an Insider all or most of the time

2.12.1 There are some jobs within the Fiducian Group which by their nature mean you will be an insider all or most of the time; that is, you will know more about the Fiducian Group and its subsidiaries than most employees. These are usually at key management personnel level (i.e. persons who have authority and responsibility for planning, directing and controlling the activities of the Fiducian Group, directly or indirectly), which includes senior officers and managers (Manager), but can also include employees who support those senior officers and managers. These employees are all known as 'prescribed employees'.

2.13 If you accidentally give inside information

2.13.1 If you do accidentally give somebody inside information you must immediately tell them that it is inside information and warn them against trading on it, getting others to trade on it, or communicating it to others. You should also contact Fiducian's General Counsel for guidance.

3. PART B – PERSONAL TRADING

3.1 Policy

- 3.1.1 Because of the legal obligations imposed by the Corporations Act relating to inside trading (see Part A of this policy), Fiducian Group Directors, Managers and employees (including contractors and franchisees) (Individuals) may only trade in Fiducian securities and futures during prescribed periods following release of information to the market by the company.

3.2 To whom does this Policy apply?

- 3.2.1 This Securities Trading Policy applies to all Individuals of the Fiducian Group.

3.3 Rules

- 3.3.1 Unless otherwise stated, you are allowed to buy or sell Fiducian securities or futures during the six weeks immediately after release to the market of:

- (a) Each six-monthly financial announcement;
- (b) The results and any other item arising from the annual general meeting; and
- (c) other major statement which may have an effect on the share price.

- 3.3.2 These are referred to as 'Open Periods.' So you are aware of when you can trade, a notification will be sent to all Individuals by email advising of the release to the market of a financial announcement or a major statement.

You must not trade at any other time

- 3.3.3 Times when you must not trade are referred to as 'Closed Periods.'

- 3.3.4 The Executive Chairman of FGL (Executive Chairman) will determine whether or not a statement is a "major statement" and if an Open Period has commenced. You therefore should always check with the Executive Chairman, General Counsel or the Chief Financial Officer if you have not received a notification after a statement has been released to the market before undertaking any trades in Fiducian securities or futures.

- 3.3.5 You must not trade during any Open Period if you have any other price-sensitive inside information about Fiducian securities or Fiducian futures which is not included in a financial announcement or major statement. Examples are knowledge of a proposed strategic purchase or sale.

- 3.3.6 You must not trade at any time in any corporate client or any other company if you hold inside information or any other price-sensitive inside information as a consequence of your role within the Fiducian Group.

- 3.3.7 Any clearance given in accordance with Section 3.4 is not an endorsement of the proposed trade and the individual doing the trading is individually responsible for their investment decisions and their compliance with insider trading laws.

- 3.3.8 Before you trade in Fiducian securities, you must carefully consider whether you are in possession of any inside information that might preclude you from trading at that time.

3.4 Trading in Closed Periods – Notification Prior to Trading

- 3.4.1 Subject to any exclusion, an Approval to Trade Form (consistent with Appendix 1) must be used if you wish to trade during a Closed Period.

- 3.4.2 Before any Director (including the Executive Chairman) deals in any securities, he or she must discuss the proposed dealing with:
- (a) The Executive Chairman (in the case of Directors); or
 - (b) In the case of the Executive Chairman, the Director who is the Chairperson of the ARCC – Corporate.
- 3.4.3 If a securities trade occurs, the Director must provide in writing to the Company Secretary details of the transaction (making reference to the prior approval), within 3 business days of the transaction.
- 3.4.4 Before any Individual (other than Directors) deals in any securities at any time, the proposed dealing must be discussed with the Executive Chairman. The Individual must then notify the Company Secretary in writing (making reference to the prior approval), of any dealings in Fiducian securities, within 3 business days of the trade.
- 3.4.5 Any clearance given in accordance with this section is effective for 5 days from the date it is given.
- 3.4.6 Any clearance to trade can be given or refused by the Executive Chairman (or the Chairperson of the ARCC – Corporate, as applicable) in his discretion, without giving any reasons.
- 3.4.7 A clearance to trade can be withdrawn if new information comes to light or there is a change in circumstances.
- 3.4.8 The Executive Chairman's decision (or the Chairperson of the ARCC – Corporate, as applicable) to refuse clearance is final and binding on the individual (or Director) seeking the clearance.
- 3.4.9 If clearance is refused, the individual (or Director) seeking the clearance must keep that information confidential and not disclose it to anyone.

3.5 Trading exclusions in a Closed Period

- 3.5.1 Despite the above restrictions the following transactions can be undertaken during a Closed Period without providing notification:
- (a) Transfers of Fiducian securities between an Individual and someone closely related to the Individual (such as a spouse, minor child, family company or family trust ('Family Member')) or by an Individual to their or a Family Member's superannuation fund or any restructure of an Individual's financial affairs either individually or with Family Members;
 - (b) An investment in, or trading in units of, a fund or scheme (other than a scheme only investing in Fiducian securities) where the assets of the fund or scheme are invested at the discretion of a third party;
 - (c) Where the Individual is a trustee, the trading of Fiducian securities by the trust provided the Individual is not a beneficiary of the trust and any decision to trade is taken by the other trustees or investment managers independently of the Individual;
 - (d) Undertakings to accept, or the acceptance of, a takeover offer;
 - (e) Trading under an offer or invitation made to all or most of the security holders of Fiducian, such as, a rights issue, security purchase plan, a dividend reinvestment plan and an equal access buyback where the plan has been approved by the Fiducian Board (this includes decisions relating to whether to take up the entitlements and the sale of entitlements required to provide for the take up of the balance of entitlements under a renounceable pro rata issue);

- (f) A disposal of Fiducian securities that is the result of a secured lender exercising their rights, for example, under a margin lending arrangement;
- (g) The exercise of an option or a right under an employee incentive scheme, or the conversion of a convertible security, where the final date for exercise of the option or right, or the conversion of the security falls during a Closed Period and Fiducian has been in an exceptionally long Closed Period (or series of consecutive Closed Periods) and the Individual could not reasonably have been expected to exercise it at a prior time;
- (h) Trading under a non-discretionary trading plan for which prior written clearance has been provided by the Executive Chairman (or the Chairperson of the ARCC – Corporate, as applicable) and where:
 - (1) The Individual did not enter into the plan or amend the plan during a Closed Period;
 - (2) The trading plan does not permit the restricted person to exercise any influence or discretion over how, when or whether to trade; and
 - (3) The Individual is not allowed to cancel the trading plan or otherwise vary the terms of his or her participating in the trading plan during a Closed Period;
- (i) Any dealing in Fiducian securities pursuant to a court order (such as bankruptcy/insolvency or family law proceedings); and
- (j) Trading in Exceptional Circumstances as described below.

3.6 Exceptional Circumstances

3.6.1 Despite the above, an Individual not in possession of Inside Information in relation to the Fiducian Group may be given prior written clearance to sell or otherwise dispose of Fiducian securities during a Closed Period where the Individual is in severe financial hardship or other exceptional circumstances apply. The Individual will generally be considered to be in severe financial hardship if a pressing financial commitment cannot be satisfied other than by selling Fiducian securities. The Individual must demonstrate a sale or disposal of Fiducian securities is the only reasonable course of action available. Any clearance given to the Individual under this paragraph must be in writing and effective for 5 days from the date it is given.

3.7 Margin Lending

3.7.1 If an Individual proposes to enter into an agreement that provides lenders with rights over interests in Fiducian securities, the Individual must provide details of the proposed agreement (including trigger points, right of lender to sell unilaterally and any other details which may be considered material) to the Executive Chairman.

3.8 Short Term and Other Dealings

3.8.1 No Individual may deal in Fiducian securities at any time for short term gain, including buying and selling Fiducian Securities in a 3-month period or using forward contracts, without the approval of the Executive Chairman, or in the case of the Executive Chairman, the Director who is the Chairperson of the ARCC – Corporate.

3.8.2 An Individual must not enter into any scheme, arrangement or agreement (including options and derivatives) under which the Individual may alter the economic benefit/risk derived from security holdings in the company under unvested entitlements (e.g. unvested equity-based incentive or award grant).

4. PART C – CONSEQUENCES OF NON-COMPLIANCE

4.1 Policy

- 4.1.1 In the event that you do not comply with the requirements of this Policy, the Company Secretary will report the contravention to the Executive Chairman who will determine the appropriate response. Compliance with this Policy, and the Company's Code of Conduct is a condition of employment, and any breach of this Policy will be regarded as serious misconduct and may lead to disciplinary action.
- 4.1.2 Where issues of discipline arise the response will be in line with Fiducian's procedures for disciplinary matters.

4.2 Insider Trading Laws

- 4.2.1 Breaches of insider trading laws is an offence under the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) and carries serious consequences. The maximum penalty for this offence is ten years' imprisonment and/or a fine of up to $450,000.
