APRA COVID-19 temporary loan repayment deferral data

Suncorp (ASX: SUN | ADR: SNMCY) advises the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA) has today published institution-level COVID-19 temporary loan repayment deferral data for the banking industry, based on regulatory filings, for the months ended 30 June and 31 July 2020. This includes data for Suncorp-Metway Limited (SML), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Suncorp Group (Suncorp). The statistics can be found at: www.apra.gov.au/statistics.

The data reported by APRA is consistent with the data reported in Suncorp's FY20 full year results material. The value of deferred home loans is equal in both sets of data. However, there are some differences in the categorisation of housing loans and business loans.

The table below provides details of home loan deferrals as reported in the Suncorp FY20 full year result material and by APRA.

Month	Suncorp ¹	APRA ²
June 2020	8.1%	8.7%
July 2020	5.1%	5.5%

¹ As reported in the Suncorp FY20 full year results materials for the year ended 30 June 2020 available on the Suncorp Group website.

² As reported in the APRA institutional-level COVID-19 temporary loan repayment deferral data for the banking industry available at www.apra.gov.au/statistics.

APRA has indicated that it intends to publish institutional level COVID-19 temporary loan repayment deferral data on a monthly basis going forward.
