Global leader in provision of environmental intelligence solutions Envirosuite Limited (ASX: EVS) (the Company) is pleased to announce the appointment of Andrew Barron as its Head of Product Management.

Mr Barron was formerly Senior Product Manager with Melbourne-based software company Aconex prior to its acquisition by Oracle in 2017 for $1.6b. Following this, Mr Barron was Director of Product Management for Oracle before he transitioned to the role of Senior Director, Product Strategy for Oracle in 2019.

He has experience in software-as-a-service (SaaS) platforms, mobile applications, hardware design, software and firmware development, and electronics manufacturing and maintenance across a range of industries including engineering and construction, mass transport, automotive and electronic security.

Envirosuite CEO Jason Cooper said: "We are really excited to have secured Andrew's talents for this role as he will help drive strategic development of our products, including our newly launched EVS Water offering following our acquisition of AqMB Pty Ltd last year.

"Andrew's experience at Aconex and its successor Oracle provide him with a strong background which we believe will help him continue our innovation as a leader in the field of environmental intelligence technology."

At Envirosuite, Mr Barron will lead the Product Management team with a focus on enhancing the definition and growth of the Company's offering in its market and driving the group's vision. He will play a vital role in shifting the Company focus toward a product led organisation, and driving the product roadmap based on adopted strategies and vision, working with Envirosuite's new CEO Jason Cooper and Executive Team in implementing the Company's strategy.
