UBI signs USA distribution deal.

Universal Biosensors, Inc. (ASX:UBI) is pleased to announce that it has entered into a non-exclusive Distribution Agreement with Wine & Beer Supply for the distribution of its wine testing platform device “Sentia” in the USA.

The Distribution Agreement is for a three-year term and contains standard renewal and termination options available to both parties.

John Sharman, CEO of UBI said; “Securing another distributor in the USA is a positive step in the commercialisation of Sentia globally. Wine & Beer Supply has a strong presence in the USA, particularly in the eastern half of the USA and will give Sentia greater access to the 11,500 wineries across the country.”

Mr Dave Robertson, CEO at Wine & Beer Supply said “We are delighted to partner with Sentia in the United States. We have received positive feedback from our customers and believe Sentia will make a significant impact in the wine testing market in the USA.”

Mr Sharman said; “Along with the current capability we believe the possibility of Sentia’s future testing capability for Glucose, Fructose, Malic Acid and others will add significant value to the winemaking industry. We are negotiating terms with a number of key industry players around the world and look forward to reporting additional distribution partnerships in due course.”

For further enquiries please refer to the Sentia website (www.mysentia.com).
