With large electronic display screens and bedside tablets at every bedside, patients and families can connect virtually with their families and remote care givers, access virtual language interpretation services, order and schedule meals, control lights and temperature, and access personalized education, entertainment and distraction programming from a single user interface.

In this on-demand webcast, learn clinical, technology, and project perspectives on:

- Why NYU Langone Health's digital strategy included a care experience platform to help improve the patient, family, and clinician experience for inpatients
- How our digital strategy enabled us to scale-up, with the help of cloud, rapidly deploying critical capabilities during the Covid-19 pandemic
- How a digital care experience platform can help differentiate your patient experience, improve patient satisfaction, reinforce your hospital's brand, and position for value-based care
