

ASX Announcement (ASX: AXE)

24 May 2021

Archer moves to Lot Fourteen innovation precinct

Archer Materials Limited (“Archer”, the “Company”, “ASX: AXE”) is pleased to announce that the Company has relocated its head office to Lot Fourteen’s innovation precinct, Adelaide.

Archer joins an impressive list of organisations at Lot Fourteen, including the Australian Space Agency, the Australian Institute for Machine Learning, Stone & Chalk and the Australian Cyber Collaboration Centre (A3C). Earlier this year, the Australian Space Discovery Centre and Mission Control Centre opened their doors at Lot Fourteen.

Lot Fourteen is focusing on the high-growth industries of space; defence; hi-tech, encompassing cyber security, artificial intelligence, machine learning and big data; and creative industries. Lot Fourteen precinct has already attracted world-leading organisations from these industry sectors, a full list of tenants can be viewed at <https://lotfourteen.com.au/directory>

All of the high-growth industries at Lot Fourteen could benefit from quantum computing and in some instances require quantum computing technology to reach their full potential. The Company relocated to Lot Fourteen as part of the Company’s strategy to align with quantum computing end users.

The Company’s new registered office and principal place of business address details are:

New office address

Lot Fourteen
Frome Road, Adelaide SA 5000

New postal address

PO Box 190
Belair SA 5052

All other contact details remain unchanged.

The Board of Archer authorised this announcement to be given to ASX.
