CyberCision

FirstWave to launch transformational technology upgrade

FirstWave Cloud Technology Limited (ASX:FCT) (FirstWave), the Australian global cybersecurity technology company, advises that it will launch CyberCision, the most transformational technology upgrade in its history, at 10.30am (AEDT) on Wednesday 27 October.

For the virtual launch event, FirstWave's Executive Chairman John Grant will be joined by Chief Technology Officer Simon Ryan, Chief Product Officer Roger Carvosso and independent technology advisor Kevin Bloch, with presentations from leading global cybersecurity analysts Frost & Sullivan and some of FirstWave's global Partners.

The launch of CyberCision, the next evolution of FirstWave's Cloud Content Security Platform (CCSP), is a watershed moment for FirstWave, its Partners and shareholders.

By significantly enhancing the functionality and ease of adoption of FirstWave's cybersecurity platform, CyberCision will enable FirstWave's Partners, which include some of the world's largest telcos, ISPs and service providers, to provide best-in-class cybersecurity technologies to protect their vulnerable SMB customers from cyber-attack, while rapidly growing their cybersecurity services revenues at scale.
