Idaho Gold Activity

The Anderson Creek Gold Project is the Company's first self-originated gold project in the USA. The Anderson Creek Gold Project covers 496 acres of ground in a highly prospective gold bearing region of the Gibbonsville Mining District in northern Lemhi County, Idaho.

Anderson Creek was chosen as a potential high value asset due to the geology, historical gold production, mineralogy and historical grades as well as access to existing infrastructure and ability to expand the claim area and project footprint.

Anderson Creek Veins

At least nine veins have been explored on the claim group with all having an east orientated strike except for two, with one of these having a strike N. 55° E. along a fault and the another with a strike N. 35 0 W. along a dyke. Four of the east-striking veins are shown on Historic Claims Map. The main veins, the Diane 1 and 2, referred to as D1 and D2 respectively, are composed mainly of brecciated quartz, abundant iron oxides (derived from the oxidation of pyrite), minor copper stain, and sparse chalcopyrite and bornite.

ASX Release

Fig 2 - Historic Vein and Sample Locations

Historic field and geophysical data indicates encouraging potential for the discovery of economic vein mineralisation. Historic reports indicate that primarily only oxide ores were mined and that rich sulphide ores encountered below the zone of oxidation were left. Modern metallurgical practices now make these ores, in many cases, an economical proposition.

Historical grades from Diane 1 vein returned gold values of up to 160g/t as well as other high grade gold values, detailed in the table below.

Anderson Creek Project Area historic samples greater than 0.5 g/t

During the quarter the Company completed in-field geological surveys and sample collection. Based on the nature of the samples and their proximity to several large known gold bearing quartz veins, the Company is seeking to advance its understanding of the project area, including targeting the three key areas:

- o D1 and D2 quartz veins,
- Additional 9 veins orientated parallel to the D1 & D2 veins, and
- o Breccia Zone to the north of the project area.

Access to the Anderson Creek project was restricted during the period due to regional fires and limits of access being applied to the area by local authorities. The Company will continue to seek permission to visit the site again in Q4-2022 and will update the market on the progress of this work once it has been complete.

Elko Coking Coal Project

Over the September Quarter, premium hard coking coal prices rallied to record levels, breaking through US$300 per tonne for the first time in 5 years. The demand for high quality seaborne coking coal underpins the Company's view that the Elko Coking Coal Project is a high value mid to long term project. The indicative product types that were identified through our drilling campaigns and subsequent testing and analysis are suited to those required to support the growth of the steel industry. With multiple seams and a diverse range of coal qualities, the Elko Coking Coal Project has the flexibility to meet the changing needs of the coking coal market over time.

As such, the Company continues to explore for partners that will support the ongoing exploration and potential development of the Elko Project over the medium - long term. The Company reconfirms its position that the Elko Coking Coal Projects holds significant value for shareholders
