Dear Fellow Shareholders,

A strong US third quarter earnings season supported equities in October with a number of indices reaching new highs during the month. Globally, government bond yields broadly rose as central banks indicated they were prepared to withdraw monetary stimulus if inflationary pressures continue. The MSCI World Index (AUD) closed up 1.6% for the month. In local terms, the US S&P 500 closed up 6.9%, the Euro Stoxx 50 Index up 5.0%, the UK FTSE 100 Index up 2.1% and China's CSI 300 Index up 0.9%. Japan's TOPIX Index closed down 1.4% for the month.

In Australia, equities reacted to higher-than-expected inflationary figures with the anticipation of a sooner-than-expected rise in interest rates. In early November, the Reserve Bank of Australia announced the removal of its 2024 interest rate guidance. Victoria and New South Wales welcomed the end of lockdowns on their respective "Freedom Days", and NSW ushered in Dominic Perrottet as its new Premier. The S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index closed up 0.1% for the month.

The most exciting undervalued growth opportunities in the Australian micro-cap market.

The WAM Microcap investment portfolio increased during the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX Small Ordinaries Accumulation Index. Significant contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance included managed accounts technology provider Praemium (ASX: PPS) and telecommunications infrastructure company Superloop (ASX: SLC).

Praemium is a global leader in the provision of technology platforms for managed accounts, investment administration and financial planning. It services 300,000 investor accounts and manages over $170 billion in funds globally for more than 1,000 financial institutions and intermediaries. In October, Praemium reported a record inflow of $1.7 billion for the September 2021 quarter, 37% higher than the previous quarter, and saw record total funds under management of $45.6 billion. In early November, Praemium announced it received a merger proposal from financial services and technology company Netwealth (ASX: NWL), where shareholders would be entitled to receive one new Netwealth share for every 11.96 Praemium shares, or receive a cash alternative. If implemented, we believe the proposed merger will create substantial value for Praemium shareholders given the compelling synergies it will produce.

Superloop is a leading telecommunications provider that owns and operates metropolitan fibre networks in Australia, Singapore and Hong Kong, connecting the regions' key data centres and bandwidth intensive buildings. During the month, the company announced the sale of its Hong Kong business and select Singapore assets for $140 million, a 30% premium to the carrying value of the assets. This transaction will allow the company to redeploy proceeds derived from the sale into accretive acquisitions or capital management initiatives.

W | A | M Capital

The most compelling undervalued growth opportunities in the Australian market.

The WAM Capital investment portfolio decreased during the month. Integrated marketing and communication services provider Enero Group (ASX: EGG) was a contributor while packaging manufacturer Pact Group Holdings (ASX: PGH) was a detractor to the investment portfolio performance.

Enero Group is a global marketing and communication services business that employs over 650 staff across 13 cities around the world. At its recent Annual General Meeting (AGM), Enero Group provided an impressive trading update with growth ahead of market expectations. Enero Group's September quarter revenue increased to $45.6 million, a 22.6% year-on-year rise, with its Hotwire, BMF and OB Media businesses outperforming. Management expect the strong momentum to continue and we see further upside to consensus earnings estimates. Enero Group continues to trade at a material discount to offshore peers despite a stronger growth outlook. Furthermore, we believe Enero Group's strong balance sheet provides ample room for accretive acquisitions in the future and view the potential upcoming IPO of comparable System1 in the United States as a valuation re-rating catalyst.

Pact Group is an Asia Pacific packaging business that manufactures and supplies plastic and metal packaging for a range of trusted brands. During the month, Pact Group released a trading update highlighting the impact the coronavirus had on its first quarter FY2022 sales, which coincided with rising input costs as oil prices surged. We believe that the stock is trading below its underlying value and that the company's long-term strategy, with a focus on increasing recycling capability and reducing inefficiencies, will drive revenue growth and margin expansion in the future.

During the month, WAM Capital's takeover bid for PM Capital Asian Opportunities Fund Limited (ASX: PAF) (Offer) opened following the despatch of its bidder's statement. Under the Offer, accepting PAF shareholders will receive 1 WAM Capital share for every 1.99 PAF shares they own. In early November, WAM Capital announced that its takeover Offer is now unconditional, meaning the Offer is free from all of its defeating conditions, and have begun processing all valid acceptances received under the Offer.

Actively investing in the highest quality Australian companies.

The WAM Leaders investment portfolio increased during the month, outperforming the S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index. Refinery company Ampol (ASX: ALD) and financial institution National Australia Bank (ASX: NAB) were significant contributors to the investment portfolio outperformance.

Ampol engages in purchasing, refining and distributing petroleum products in Australia, New Zealand, Singapore and the United States. Ampol has been severely impacted by the New South Wales and Victoria lockdowns, and as mobility improves and borders open, we expect both retail fuel volumes and jet fuel volumes to recover. In August 2021, Ampol announced the proposed takeover of Z Energy (NZX: ZEL), the market leader in New Zealand with approximately 40% market share of retail fuel sales and a similar business model to Ampol's. The transaction was approved by Z Energy shareholders in October 2021. We are positive on the strategic rationale of this acquisition for the synergies resulting from operating at larger scale and the opportunities it unlocks for Ampol's trading business. The transaction will be fully debt funded and will be accretive on both an earnings and free cash flow basis.

National Australia Bank performed strongly in October, with high expectations building ahead of reporting its financial year results in early November. National Australia Bank subsequently delivered a strong result with momentum across all divisions, including FY2021 cash profit of $6.5 billion and a doubling of its final dividend for shareholders to 67 cents a share. National Australia Bank continues to be our preferred exposure in the banking sector due to its capable management team, a sector-leading business bank taking market share, further progressed cost management initiatives than peers, and its strong capital position.

W | A | M Global

The world's most compelling undervalued growth companies.

The WAM Global investment portfolio decreased during the month. A significant contributor to the investment portfolio performance included data service provider Intercontinental Exchange (NYSE: ICE) while global payments provider Visa (NYSE: V) was a detractor.

Intercontinental Exchange is a global operator of regulated exchanges, clearing houses and listing venues. The company also provides data services for commodity, financial, fixed income and equity markets. Intercontinental Exchange reported positive 2021 third quarter earnings, ahead of market expectations, delivering a 28% increase in year-on-year revenue growth and a 40% increase in operating income compared to the prior year. Its mortgage technology business outperformed expectations, with revenue growth of 7% from the prior year in an environment where industry origination volumes declined in double digits. The performance of the mortgage technology business also defied earlier concerns of headwinds led by the slowing purchase and refinancing activity in the US. We are constructive on the long-term opportunity for Intercontinental Exchange. Volume trends appear to be sustainable and we believe the market is underappreciating the growth potential for its mortgage technology business and Intercontinental Exchange's ability to further capitalise on the growing value of its data content.

Visa is a global payments technology company working to enable consumers, businesses, banks and governments to use digital currency. During the month, Visa reported a strong quarterly earnings result, beating market expectations. It delivered a 29% increase in revenue growth year-on-year and a 4% increase in operating margins compared to the prior year. Despite this, its guidance for higher-than-anticipated client incentive payments, as well as the cross border recovery that is now expected in 2023, weighed on Visa during the month. Concerns over Visa being disintermediated by new financial technology companies was also a headwind for the company. We do not share this view and believe the Buy Now Pay Later space is a growth opportunity for Visa. Management has highlighted that there was a 30% increase in financial technology companies issuing Visa credentials, which has more than doubled payments volume in the past year. Visa is in a significantly stronger position post the coronavirus pandemic due to the accelerated digitalisation of cash. We see catalysts ahead for Visa with the potential for earnings beats as cross border volumes recover driving higher margins.

Unique opportunities beyond traditional assets

The WAM Alternative Assets investment portfolio increased during the month with the Shopper Media Group Fund contributing to the investment portfolio performance. WAM Alternative Assets' investment in the Shopper Media Group Fund is managed by our investment partner, Fortitude Investment Partners. The underlying company is a Sydney-based digital out-of-home advertising business, which operates Smartlite digital advertising displays in over 420 shopping centres around Australia. The Shopper business has seen significant growth and increase in earnings before interest, tax, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA), driving an increase in the carrying value of the fund. We remain positive on this investment as it fits into the long-term megatrend of digitalisation.

In October, we deployed a further $1.7 million to the Hotel Fund, which is also managed by Fortitude Investment Partners. The Hotel Fund's underlying business, GM Hotels, consists of a portfolio of freehold and leasehold suburban hotels in Adelaide. The follow on capital raising saw the GM Hotels business acquire two strategic freehold assets. The GM Hotels business has proven resilient throughout the coronavirus pandemic, achieving considerable growth over the past 12 months. The Hotel Fund is a yielding asset, targeting a 10% return to investors per annum.

W | A | M Strategic Value

Discounted asset opportunities.

The WAM Strategic Value investment portfolio increased during the month, with significant contributors including Westoz Investment Company (ASX: WIC) and Ironbark Capital (ASX: IBC).

Based in Perth, Westoz Investment Company is a LIC established in 2005. The company's objective is to generate a positive return over the medium to long term through an actively managed portfolio of small-to-mid cap ASX listed investments and provide shareholders with a consistent stream of dividends. Its investments typically have a connection to Western Australia through their assets, operations or management. In October, the Westoz investment portfolio posted a strong gross portfolio return of 6.2%, outperforming the S&P/ASX All Ordinaries Accumulation Index by 6.0%. Westoz Investment Company's strong share price performance was primarily driven by its underlying investments in gold producer West African Resources (ASX: WAF) and nickel producer Nickel Mines (ASX: NIC), as well as a slight narrowing of its share price discount to net tangible assets (NTA). We see compelling value in Westoz Investment Company over time as its share price discount to NTA continues to narrow.

Ironbark Capital is a listed investment company (LIC) which aims to achieve its absolute return objective over the medium to long term. The Company's investment process emphasises income generation and predominantly invests in buy and write strategies, property trusts, utilities, infrastructure, hybrids, corporate bonds and fixed interest securities. Ironbark Capital commenced a share buy-back during October 2021 in an attempt to narrow its NTA discount. The company currently trades at a slight discount to its NTA and is now responsible for over 85% of the share volume since the share buy-back has come into effect. In its annual financial report, the company stated that it expects to see improvements in FY2022 dividends received from the underlying investments, supported by better-than-expected corporate earnings.

The WAM Research investment portfolio decreased during the month. Integrated marketing and communication services provider Enero Group (ASX: EGG) was a contributor while leading global supplier of hand-held metal detectors and communications equipment Codan (ASX: CDA) was a detractor to the investment portfolio performance.

Enero Group is a global marketing and communication services business that employs over 650 staff across 13 cities around the world. At its recent Annual General Meeting (AGM), Enero Group provided an impressive trading update with growth ahead of market expectations. Enero Group's September quarter revenue increased to $45.6 million, a 22.6% year-on-year rise, with its Hotwire, BMF and OB Media businesses outperforming. Management expect the strong momentum to continue and we see further upside to consensus earnings estimates. Enero Group continues to trade at a material discount to offshore peers despite a stronger growth outlook. Furthermore, we believe Enero Group's strong balance sheet provides ample room for accretive acquisitions in the future and view the potential upcoming IPO of comparable System1 in the United States as a valuation re-rating catalyst.

Codan is a manufacturer and supplier of communications and metal detection products to security and military groups, governments and consumers globally. In its trading commentary at its AGM in October, Codan affirmed that its existing businesses are tracking in line with FY2021's record first half profitability. This was below market expectations, with slower than anticipated organic growth in the metal detection business a key driver. While disappointing near term, the medium term outlook remains positive, underpinned by significant ongoing investment in product development and expansion into new markets. During the month, Codan also announced that it had secured a significant multi-year contract supplying communications equipment to a military program, with the outlook for further potential awards remaining positive.

Market mispricing opportunities in the Australian market.

The WAM Active investment portfolio decreased during the month. Information technology company Life360 (ASX: 360) was a contributor while packaging manufacturer Pact Group Holdings (ASX: PGH) was a detractor to the investment portfolio performance.

Life360 is a family safety platform serving over 33 million users globally. In October, Life360 released its September 2021 quarterly update, beating market expectations and raising its 2021 annualised monthly revenue guidance to between USD125 million to USD130 million. We remain positive on Life360, given its large addressable market, accelerating revenue growth profile and cost discipline. The company remains rich in catalysts that may support the company's share price, including potential mergers and acquisitions and a dual listing in the United States.

Pact Group is an Asia Pacific packaging business that manufactures and supplies plastic and metal packaging for a range of trusted brands. During the month, Pact Group released a trading update highlighting the impact the coronavirus had on its first quarter FY2022 sales, which coincided with rising input costs as oil prices surged. We believe that the stock is trading below its underlying value and that the company's long-term strategy, with a focus on increasing recycling capability and reducing inefficiencies, will drive revenue growth and margin expansion in the future.
