We refer to an article in the weekend Gold Coast Bulletin 19 February 2022.

We write to correct the record, particularly the statement that Raptis Group has moved its head office and that “Raptis Group had not formally notified the exchange of the change of headquarters address”.

The Company’s principal place of business and the registered office have remained unchanged since December 2016 and the ASX has been correctly informed at all times. The address is also correctly recorded by the ASIC and in the Company’s annual reports. The principal place of business is leased by Raptis Group Limited. Mr Raptis supports the Group covering all its lease and occupancy costs.

The article appears to have failed to identify the common practice of a company having both a principal place of business and a registered office.
