

ASX & Media Release

Loy Yang A Unit 2 Generator Fault

20 April 2022

On Friday 15 April 2022, Unit 2 at AGL's Loy Yang A Power Station in Victoria was taken out of service due to an electrical fault with the generator. An investigation is under way into the cause of the electrical fault and AGL is engaging with the relevant authorities and technical experts.

AGL is currently assessing the length of any resulting outage that may occur at Loy Yang A Unit 2 as well as measures that may be taken to mitigate the impact of the outage. On a precautionary basis, AGL has informed the Australian Energy Market Operator that the length of this outage may be until 1 August 2022, subject to the completion of this assessment. AGL notes that this estimate is highly preliminary and subject to change.

AGL will inform the market of any financial impact of the technical fault and timing of the outage once these assessments have occurred. It is currently estimated that this information will be available by no later than the first week of May.

Authorised for release by AGL's Market Disclosure Committee.

Further enquiries

James Thompson
Head of Investor Relations
M: +61 403 183 563
E: jthompson5@agl.com.au

Madeline Atkins
Manager, Media Relations
M: +61 498 001 601
E: MAtkins@agl.com.au

About AGL

Proudly Australian for more than 180 years, AGL supplies around 4.5 million energy and telecommunications customer services¹. We're committed to becoming a leading multi-product retailer, making energy and other essential services simple, fair and transparent. AGL operates Australia's largest private electricity generation portfolio within the National Electricity Market, comprising coal and gas-fired generation, renewable energy sources such as wind, hydro and solar, batteries and other firming technology, and gas production and storage assets. We are building on our history as Australia's leading private investor in renewable energy to now lead the business of transition to a low emissions, affordable and smart energy future in line with the goals of our Climate Statement. We have a passionate belief in progress and a relentless determination to make things better for our communities, customers, the Australian economy and our planet.