MONTHLY SUMMARY

August markets were mainly influenced by the last of earnings results, weak China economic data and an uptick in 10-year bonds; the US 10 Year Bond spiked as high as 4.34% likely partly due to large issuance. Participants seem, even more than usual, unsure of the path for economic growth given the lagged effects of higher policy interest rates juxtaposed with ongoing levels of inflation above target and resilient consumption trends. Energy stocks benefitted from strength in the oil price while utilities struggled as expectations for real interest rates moved higher. We see increasing evidence of more difficult conditions for consumer exposures (especially discretionary spending) while the opportunities being created by enabling and commercialising AI as well as addressing the capital investment needs of transitioning to a net zero carbon world suggest longer-term support for economic growth, especially in the US.

In August, the portfolio rose, benefitting from good underlying company performances and an AUD fall of 3.9%. Price gains were led by Booking, Visa, Amazon, Alphabet and Intercontinental Exchange, which all rose over 5% in the month. Booking is delivering strong results as travel recovers and it is increasingly capturing customers directly via its App. Visa is also benefitting from travel recovery in its cross-border business while Amazon and Alphabet are starting to show the benefits of significant cost and efficiency efforts against strong revenue growth opportunities in part fuelled by AI. Intercontinental Exchange has succeeded in the acquisition of Black Knight, bringing clarity for investors. A couple of stocks had very small price falls but nothing of note in the month. We initiated a position in ASML given share price weakness has opened up a significant margin of safety in this leading exposure to the secular growth in semiconductors. We funded this by taking some profits in Booking.

Index movements and stock contributors/detractors are based in local currency terms unless stated otherwise.

⁵ Sectors are internally defined. Geographical exposure is calculated on a look through basis based on underlying revenue exposure of individual companies held within the portfolio. Exposures may not sum to 100% due to rounding.

⁶ Shows how much the stock has contributed to the trust's gross return for the period in AUD. Excludes non-disclosed positions established in the latest quarter.
