Thereby, Xamble allows to better monetise content, while at the same time allowing brands for the first time to digitally track the sales results via the platform. I look forward to contributing my expertise and working with Ganesh, the Board and leadership team to rapidly grow the business and help build a new way of distribution for South East Asia and beyond."*

Xamble Executive Chairman, Ganesh Kumar Bangah, said: "Georg's investment is a huge vote of confidence in Xamble and our goal to build a pan-Southeast Asian influencer marketing platform. I am very pleased to welcome an executive of his calibre to our team. His skillset of growing disruptive technology companies and experience in leading ASX-listed businesses will be invaluable as we look towards our new phase of growth. Georg will help us advance our inorganic growth strategy, our ambition to capture a significant share of the influencer marketing sector in South East Asia and help deliver greater value for our shareholders."
