PROPOSED TAKEOVER OFFER FOR HIGH-GRADE GOLD FOCUSED MINING AND EXPLORATION COMPANY, ANDEAN MINING

This Announcement is made to rectify some formatting issues in the identical Announcement released earlier today.

PROJECTS HIGHLIGHTS

- Andean Mining has a portfolio of 100%-owned, high-grade gold, silver and copper projects in the Republic of Colombia, South America.
- Santa Barbara Gold Mine: high-grade mesothermal gold project with a 30 tonnes per day pilot plant that has treated 500 tonnes of ore, with average recoveries of 20 g/t Au; early cashflow opportunity.
- Atocha – high-grade silver/gold exploration project with reported drill intercepts that include 20.14g/t Au and 723g/t Ag (29.0g/t AuEq) over a true width of 0.8m in drill hole AT-21-02.
- El Dovio high grade copper/gold project: VMS-style mineralisation, with 34 drill hole intercepts that include 8.14g/t Au, 6.92% Cu, 39.41g/t Ag and 1.46% Zn over 5.80 metres in drill hole D13-05 and an exploration adit having been completed.

TRANSACTION HIGHLIGHTS

- Aguia Resources Limited (“Agua”) proposes to acquire all (and not less than 90%) of the shares in Andean Mining Limited (“Andean”) via an off-market takeover offer.
- Under the Offer, Agua proposes to offer approximately 453 million Agua shares in consideration for 100% of the issued shares in Andean.
- Agua and Andean have entered into a Bid Implementation Agreement pursuant to which Andean’s Independent Board Committee has recommended that Andean shareholders accept the Offer, in the absence of a superior proposal and subject to the outcome of an independent expert’s report to be commissions by Andean.
- The Agua takeover offer is subject to a limited number of conditions.
- If the takeover is successful, it is proposed that Andean Managing Director William Howe will join the Board of Agua.

- Agua will continue to pursue the development of its phosphate and copper assets in Brazil and they remain key to the Company’s future growth plans.
- Near-term focus is on further assessing the presence of rare earths mineralisation identified in Agua’s extensive phosphate assets.

Agua Resources Limited (ASX:AGR) (Agua) is pleased to announce the signing of a Bid Implementation Agreement (Implementation Agreement) with Andean Mining Limited (Andean). Agua proposes to purchase all (and not less than 90%) of the shares in Andean in an all scrip-based, off-market takeover offer.

The proposed offer is recommended by an Independent Board Committee of Andean, comprising Executive Director William Howe and Non-Executive Directors Paul Ingram and James Green, in the absence of a superior offer. Warwick Grigor, being a director of Andean and the Chairman of Agua, has recused himself from being involved in the assessment of the proposed offer on behalf of Andean or the recommendation of the proposed offer by Agua.

Under the proposed offer, Agua proposes to offer approximately 453 million shares in consideration for 100% of the issued shares in Andean. The Agua shares are proposed to be unquoted (and therefore subject to escrow) for a period of 6 months following completion of the proposed offer.

Agua's Non-Executive Director Ben Jarvis commented: "The acquisition of Andean Mining will be an important development for Agua as it offers the opportunity for a near-term cash generating asset. The very high-grade Santa Barbara Gold Project in Colombia has already demonstrated its merit following a pilot scale operation that established underground mining conditions, metallurgical parameters and excellent recovered grades. Agua will seek to recommission the existing treatment facility at an expanded, continuous operating capacity of 50 tpd at minimal capital cost. A subsequent priority will be the drilling of the veins proximate and along strike to the existing underground workings in order to increase confidence levels in mineable resources and to better understand the exploration potential, which is believed to be considerable".

"We believe this is a mutually beneficial transaction, offering Agua shareholders exposure to a gold earning stream and exciting exploration potential from the Santa Barbara Project and the Atocha high-grade silver/gold project. Additionally, the El Dovio copper-gold project could prove to be a valuable development project in due course. While Agua's Tres Entradas Phosphate Project has been delayed by obstructive litigation for the last couple of years, we are optimistic that the Company will eventually overcome this obstacle. In the meantime, Agua shareholders will benefit from the Colombian projects. The Brazilian properties continue to offer promising speculative opportunities, particularly when you consider that there are five carbonatites that are yet to be tested. The combination of the assets of both entities will make for a much stronger company with a pipeline of development and exploration projects."

Andean's Managing Director William Howe added: "The proposed transaction with Agua provides our shareholders with an opportunity to be part of an ASX-listed public company with multiple assets in South America and the capacity to more rapidly fund the growth and development of our portfolio of gold and copper projects in Colombia. Andean delivers to Agua a company that can be quickly cash generative through Santa Barbara, and one that has huge exploration upside. Colombia is a well-regarded and established mining and exploration jurisdiction and we are confident we can generate considerable value here. If this transaction is completed, I look forward to joining Agua and being integral to its success."

TRANSACTION DETAILS

The proposed offer will be implemented by way of an off-market takeover offer under the Australian Corporations Act for all Andean shares. Assuming 100% acceptance, Andean will become a wholly-owned subsidiary of Aguia.

As consideration for the acquisition, Aguia will issue up to approximately 453 million shares, to Andean shareholders who will collectively own approximately 44% of the issued capital of Aguia.

The proposed offer is subject to conditions which include a 90% minimum acceptance condition.

Further details about the proposed offer, the conditions to the proposed offer and proposed timetable are set out in the Bid Implementation Agreement, which is attached as an annexure to this announcement.

It is expected that Aguia's Bidder's Statement, containing further information about the Offer, will be posted to all Andean shareholders in mid-February 2024.

ANDEAN MINING AND EXPLORATION PROJECTS

1) SANTA BARBARA GOLD PROJECT (100% OWNED)

Background

The Santa Barbara Project is comprised of approximately 320 hectares strategically located in the core of a prolific gold camp on the northern tip of the Serranía de San Lucas, also known as the “richest gold belt” in Colombia. It is surrounded by numerous active small-scale mining operations and artisanal miners, next to the Pueblito Mejia and Norosí Special Reserve Areas of Mining (ARE) with numerous active small-scale miners demonstrating the richness and gold potential of the district. The project was previously advanced by Baroyeca Gold & Silver Inc. (TSX-V.BSG) (Baroyeca) before being acquired by Andean Mining Limited in July 2023.

Diagram 1: Santa Barbara heavily mineralized Vein #1 in exploratory tunnel

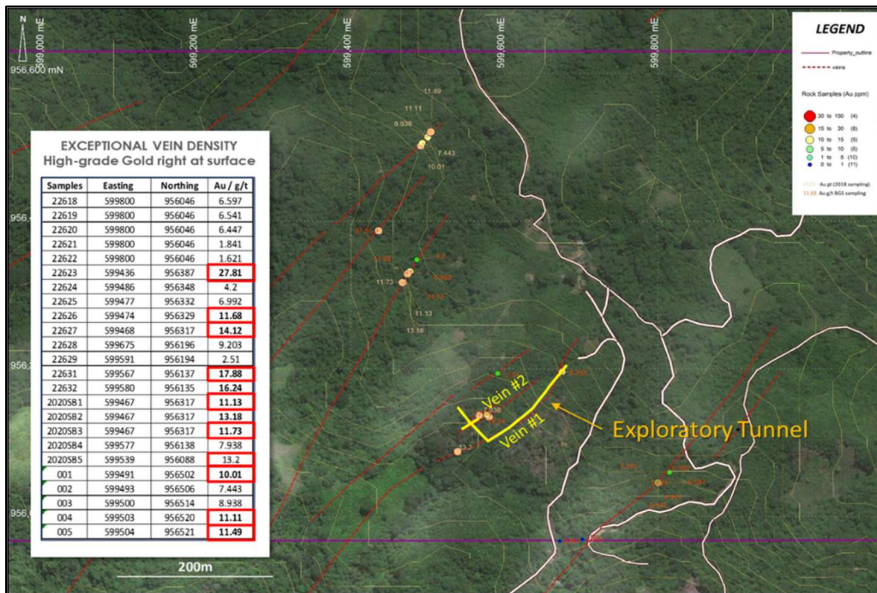

Diagram 2: Santa Barbara principal vein traces and rock assay results from surface samples.

Previous Work Performed

A total of seven gold-bearing veins were examined and sampled by Baroyeca, while several more mineralised veins were discovered which require further detailed exploration. Based on observations of mineralised exposures, artisanal diggings, pits, tunnels and adits, individual veins have an estimated minimum strike of 50 metres and up to > 400 metres. They are generally parallel, trending from N020° to N060°, and overall steep to sub-vertical dips. Vein widths may reach 0.5 metres, but veining does pinch and swell, and in some cases, splits, or bifurcates.

Underground sampling on Veins 1 and 2 developed at the Santa Barbara Mine returned average channel sampling grades over the full strike exposed of 38.91g/t Au and 31.0g/t Au respectively. Vein widths vary from 10 cm to 1.1 metres. Underground sampling at the Mariana Mine vein returned similar gold grades seen at the Santa Barbara mine with vein widths of up to 50cm.

Underground development on Veins 1 and 2 at the Santa Barbara mine has exposed continuous gold mineralisation for more than 200 metres on strike. Ore mined from this development made up a 500 tonne bulk sample for treatment in the 30 tpd pilot plant constructed on site.

Veins are characterized by a gangue of quartz, and minor carbonates (calcite, Mn-calcite), chlorite and sericite. Sulphides range from 10% to almost 80%, with pyrite being the dominant sulphide (>50% of the total sulphide content)) with variable amounts of galena, sphalerite, and chalcopyrite. The gold to sulphides ratio seems to be consistent along the entirety of the vein.

In total, more than USD$1.5M was previously invested on the project since 2015, by previous operators including acquisition costs, permitting, compliance, infrastructure, pilot plant construction and underground development.

Bulk Sampling

The Santa Barbara project has a gold pilot processing plant capable of processing the ore material from the veins, comprised of two stages of crushing, two stages of milling and cyanide leaching tanks. Pregnant solution from the cyanide leaching tanks is transferred to a precipitation tank and gold precipitate is obtained at the plant site for on-site smelting.

The mineralised material extracted from Vein # 1 during the years 2020 and 2021 was part of a large bulk sampling program designed under the supervision of a Qualified Person and completed by the previous operator.

The exploratory tunnel was designed to enable blasting and splitting of the vein from the waste host rock for subsequent collection and pre-concentration of higher-grade mineralized material at the mine portal. This material was then bagged, with each bag being weighed individually until an approximate 10 tonne batch was completed. Bags were randomly scrambled while stockpiling, loaded and discharged for homogenization purposes. The batch was then fed through the on-site 30 tpd pilot plant. Gold was precipitated by agitation adding zinc powder and smelted for every batch individually. Head grade assay results were cross referenced with gold pours to determine efficiency in plant recoveries as part of the metallurgical testing and to facilitate future improvements of the processing plant to increase processing capacity and recovery. These preliminary processing methods produced overall gold recovery of approximately 90% at > 98% gold purity. The 500-ton bulk sample was completed in September 2021 at the Santa Barbara project which returned mill head grades with a weighted average of >24g/t Au for Vein #1 (Santa Barbara vein)

2) ATOCHA SILVER/GOLD EXPLORATION PROJECT (100% OWNED)

Background

The Atocha project covers a significant part of the colonial era Santa Ana-Frias-Mariquita primary silver district where mining records date to at least 1585. Following the Spanish Conquest, more formal mining commenced, with extraction of gold and more importantly, silver, specifically around the town of Falan to the North of the project. During the time the Spanish operated the mines, silver grades were reported to be some of the highest in Latin America. The average smelter return for silver ore during those days was "4 marcos per quintal" (equal to approximately >17kg/ton Ag or over 500 oz/ton Ag). Subsequent exploration discovered further veins in the Santa Ana (today Falan) and Frias regions, adding 14 new mines to the district, all of them producing over one marco of silver per quintal (approximately 4.3kg Ag/ ton or over 138 oz/ton Ag).

Spanish mining was superseded by the British, commonly in the form of Cornish migrants who worked their way through Central and subsequently, Southern America. The British engineer Robert Stevenson worked briefly in the Falan area, leaving well-preserved old mine workings and reports indicating the relatively extensive underground mine development within and around the town of Falan, and also several kilometres to the South, in a second mining area operated by the British called El Cristo mine, together with other extensive mining infrastructure located at the headwaters of the Jimenez creek, near the northern boundary of the Atocha project. The last gold-silver rush started in the area in the 1930's, with focus on existing or past producing mines. As a result, four mining districts (re)-started: Ibagué, Anzoategui, Santa Isabel and Líbano.

Geology

Gold-silver mineralisation is located within the Palestina (NW), Otú-Pericos (East) and the North-South trending Mulatos faults. Mineralisation at the Atocha project appears to be modified more by the late, Mesozoic, Cretaceous to Miocene age, brittle faulting, with mineralised veins usually hosted by north-east trending, sub-vertically to steeply east-dipping normal and reverse faults. The main mineralisation may retain the postulated early phase of orogenic-related mineralisation, but it should be emphasised that the area has a locally significant epithermal overprint.

Overall, veins in the district are hosted by sub-parallel, oblique-slip normal faults and extension fractures striking between 030° and 060° and dip moderately to steeply north-west. These fault orientations host some of the richest veins of the district, including La Ye, Veta Grande, NW Veins, Tavera-Guadua and the recently discovered El Erizo vein. Vein textures include crustiform banding, breccias, and cockade textures, suggesting that vein opening and filling was episodic, with several episodes of fault movement related to brecciation and mineralization. Veins in the district are hosted by folded, metamorphosed Palæozoic schists (basement) and are generally narrow, and locally anastomosing, with anomalous silver grades (<5 oz/t Ag) or small zones of high-grade ore (>15 oz/t Ag). It has been observed that for some veins (e.g., NW Vein, Veta Grande W, and elsewhere, e.g. around Santa Ana-Falan), significant mineralisation (taken as >50 oz/t Ag) was present near E-W trending aplite-diorite stocks.

The lineament pattern for the area covering the Atocha project, is based on satellite and photographic interpretation and limited prospecting and geological investigations. Postulated mineralised veins discovered during the prospecting are shown in red and coincide with a regional marked structure that seems to be controlling the Silver-Gold mineralization in the property, and we refer to it as the "Atocha Corridor". Precise trends and strike extent are inferred due to the exploratory nature of past work, but much of the Atocha property remains unexplored.

Recent Work Performed – Focus on La Ye Vein Zone

La Ye vein zone has demonstrated the existence of a major structural deformation corridor with a wide associated multiple vein system. The primary vein system at La Ye is comprised of at least six major veins and several smaller associated parallel veins covering a strike length in excess of 500m, open in both directions. Mapping has been possible due to the existence of a vast number of exposures and outcrop occurrences and the first batch of rock chips collected in Q2-2021 at outcrops and sub-outcrops averaged 182 g/t Ag (or 304.4g/t AgEq).

The previous operator Baroyeca Gold & Silver Inc. (TSX-V.BSG) (Baroyeca), drilled 13 diamond holes at the La Ye target for a total of approximately 1,700m as part of an ongoing drill program which has to date covered approximately 350m of strike length of the vein corridor. Drilling was intended to test only the shallowest part of the vein corridor with approximately 25 metre step outs to identify and delineate a high-grade silver and gold mineralized zone or shoot near surface at La Ye. This will be followed-up at depth in future delineation drilling campaigns.

The first holes drilled on Atocha targeted the La Ye vein system and successfully identified and delineated the first mineralized zone. In the initial 13 drill holes, the previous operator intersected high-grades on the La Ye vein including 2,233g/t AgEq over 0.80m, 1,137g/t AgEq over 0.50m and 981g/t AgEq over 0.40m and encountered more than 25 intercepts returning over 200g/t AgEq, with a weighted average grade of 570g/t AgEq (7.6 g/t AuEq) over an average intercept width of 0.50 metres. The drilling to date has tested 350m along strike to shallow depths in small step outs, demonstrating the continuity of the silver and gold mineralization and the consistency of high grades across a growing vein system. Over 30 cumulative km of sampled vein exposures has been identified to date on the Atocha licence.

The highest gold and silver grades obtained from previous operators include a series of rock chip samples taken in three exposures on the Veta Grande vein system and individual samples returned gold values as high as 14.65 g/t Au and 14.20 g/t Au, and highest silver values of 3,480, 2,300, 1,955 and 1,570 g/t Ag. Table 1 below provides examples of the better intercepts recorded.

3) EL DOVIO GOLD-COPPER-SILVER-ZINC PROJECT (100% OWNED)

Background

The El Dovio Project is comprised of approximately 1,298.82ha. It is a gold-rich polymetallic system that also contains significant copper, zinc and silver mineralization. The Sabana Blanca Zone, the principal known mineralized zone on the property at this time, is hosted in brecciated and altered marine volcanic and intrusive rocks and remains open to expansion in all directions.

Mineralisation appears to be structurally controlled, with high-grade polymetallic mineralisation comprised of multi-phased colloform banded crystalline quartz containing zones of enriched zinc mineralisation and strongly deformed zones hosting semi-massive to massive chalcopyrite in metamorphosed mafic volcanic rocks of the Cañasgordas Group.

Mineralisation at El Dovio occurs in four major zones, the Sabana Blanca, Granizales, Platanilla and Brazo 1 Zones.

Drilling

The main target at Sabana Blanca is a high-grade gold-bearing zone manifested as a dense quartz vein system structurally controlled and oriented WNW-ESE and hosted in greenschist metamorphic grade mafic metavolcanics rocks. A total of 23 diamond drill holes were completed on the property between the years 2013 and 2014, by previous operator Newrange Gold Corp. (Newrange).

Diagram 6 : Banded, coloform gold bearing veins with internal zone of semi-massive pyrrhotite

As a separate event, sphalerite mineralization selectively overprints the quartz vein system zones, starting from the edges of the quartz veins, rimming brecciated vein fragments, and selectively replacing zones of pyrite and pyrrhotite.

Diagram 7: Selective replacements of semi-massive sphalerite around gold-bearing quartz veins. SBC zone

Lastly, semi-massive to massive copper (chalcopyrite) mineralization occurs in very deformed areas (shear zones), intersecting the previous gold veined system and sphalerite mineralization, producing replacement of the sphalerite and obliterating previous vein textures, always in a very silicified dark matrix (metasediments).

Diagram 8. High-grade copper mineralization at Sabana Blanca semi-massive to massive chalcopyrite mineralization in a heavily veined zone

The three gold, zinc and copper events of mineralisation are well isolated in time and respond to three different mineralising events overlapping in time as a result of reactivation of the system. The style of gold mineralisation is akin to classic lode gold orogenic type, whereas the zinc and copper mineralization seem to be remobilizations favoured by late deformation.

Metallurgical Test Work

Newrange conducted metallurgical testwork on a bulk composite sample taken from the Sabana Blanca adit. McClelland Laboratories, Inc. of Reno, Nevada supervised and conducted the tests using conventional milling and froth flotation techniques and recorded recoveries for gold, copper, silver and zinc of 96.4%, 97.8%, 91.1% 96.8% respectively into a bulk concentrate.

Andean Mining Limited conducted further testwork on a sample from the Sabana Blanca adit using Resource Development Inc based in Denver, Colorado, USA. This testwork included Bond's Ball Mill

Work Index (15.55 kWh/st – considered hard), Bond Abrasion Index (0.798 – considered abrasive), Crusher Index (12.2 kWh/st – considered medium hardness) and Rougher flotation Testing.

The rougher flotation testing was specifically designed to produce separate copper and zinc concentrates so as to determine where the gold and silver reported in the concentrates.

Recoveries for all metals into separate copper and zinc concentrates were approximately 95% (which was in line with the Newrange testwork) with 93.6% of the gold and 86% of the silver reporting into the copper concentrate.
