Dear Shareholders

Market Clarification

Investors may have read an online post today presenting misleading information about the company and its performance and asserting personal opinions about the current management and board.

LaserBond rejects these unfounded and disingenuous allegations. The individual responsible for circulating this information has, during the course of 2023, made numerous attempts to return to LaserBond in a non-executive or executive role, all of which have been unsuccessful for several reasons. The Board does not believe their return is in the company's and its shareholders' best interests.

If anyone would like further information, please email corporate@laserbond.com.au, providing your name and contact number, and the Chairman, CEO and/or CFO will be in contact directly.

Approved for lodgement by the Board of LaserBond.
