ARDMORE MINE OPERATIONS UPDATE

Centrex Limited (ASX: CXM) ('Centrex' or 'the Company') provides the following update for the Ardmore Mine, 100% owned by its wholly owned subsidiary, Agriflex Pty Ltd.

RAIL NETWORK REPAIR UNDERWAY

On 8 Feb, Queensland Rail issued a press release providing an update on the planned reopening of the Mount Isa line following the impact of ex-Tropical Cyclone Kirrily.¹ Quotes attributed to Queensland Rail's Head of Regional, Scott Cornish, are as follows:

"The Mount Isa line from Nelia (east of Julia Creek) to Cloncurry is expected to reopen later this month, restoring the vital freight path."

"A taskforce of 90 Queensland Rail employees and contractors have been stood up to recover the line in the wake of ex-Tropical Cyclone Kirrily."

"Following the flood event, aerial inspections identified two kilometres of track requiring extensive repair."

"Due to the ongoing rainfall and wet ground conditions, crews needed to alter recovery plans to safely access the rail corridor."

"With the recovery now underway, the Mount Isa line is expected to reopen by late-February, subject to works not being hindered by further weather."

"We thank our passengers and freight customers for their patience as we work to restore the line and will continue to keep them informed of any updates."

ARDMORE MINE OPERATING AS NORMAL

As previously announced on 5 Feb, all activities at the Ardmore Mine, including mining and processing, and drying continue as normal with only minor interruptions experienced due to rainfall events, typical for this time of year. Presently, all activities at the Ardmore Mine are continuing to operate as normal.

A 11,642t shipment of beneficiated rock completed loading in Townville 6 February for an overseas customer.

The Company will continue to keep the market updated in accordance with its continuous disclosure obligations.
