Acusensus Limited (ASX:ACE) (Acusensus or the Company), a technology company designing and developing artificial intelligence enabled road safety solutions, is pleased to provide a summary of its activities for the third quarter ended 31 March 2024 (Q3 FY24).

Acusensus Founder and Managing Director, Alexander Jannink, said:

“There have been a number of achievements for Acusensus over the past quarter, with significant tender activity in the sectors Acusensus serves. These tailwinds will continue to bode well for the future of Acusensus as more governments recognise the lifesaving potential of the types of solutions that Acusensus has pioneered.

“Applicable speed and/or mobile phone tenders have recently been released domestically and internationally. In responding to tenders, Acusensus bids with world leading technology, excellent service and maximum flexibility. Our clients can be confident that if they do select us, we will deliver well with a response bid on commercially viable terms.

“It's been pleasing to see the first phone enforcement cameras activated in South Australia, conversion of opportunities previously announced in the United States (US), and the continued demand in the United Kingdom (UK). We have grown our team steadily in both the US and the UK over the quarter, and we have now appointed a Chief Operating Officer to further enhance our attention to scaling the business effectively and efficiently.

“Seeing our road worker safety product deployed for the first time this quarter at real work sites has been very rewarding and I'm excited by our ambitions to make a difference in work health and safety on a global stage over time.”

Operations

Matt Higgins has been appointed in the role of Chief Operating Officer to focus on scale priorities as the Company executes its growth objectives. Matt brings a wealth of experience as an engineering leader, having spearheaded multinational manufacturing and engineering teams during his tenure at Tesla, Inc. His extensive background includes nurturing teams and overseeing manufacturing operations in prominent locations such as California, Shanghai and Berlin. Beyond his tenure at Tesla, Matt has also demonstrated proficiency in implementing world-class practices, notably during his time at Toyota. He has further enriched his expertise through roles at management consultancy KBR and General Motors.

Progress was made on the development of advisory signage solutions (Behaviour Awareness Monitoring), including off-road acceptance testing with Acusensus' Queensland customer. The Company also achieved significant progress in the development of its road worker protection product (previously known as "Guardian") with the product being deployed at real work sites. The product is a wearable device that provides road worker safety in real-time and the Company has received useful feedback from a client, which will inform further enhancements to the hardware. The Company also continues to broaden its multi-function enforcement solution toward covering all five of the fatal five driver behaviours (which together are responsible for up to 94% of road fatalities according to statistics from National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA)).

As announced on 18 April 2024, Acusensus IP Pty Ltd (Acusensus IP), a fully owned subsidiary of Acusensus Limited, has commenced proceedings in the Federal Court of Australia against One Task Pty Ltd (One Task) alleging that One Task infringes Acusensus IP's certified innovation patent relating to a system for detecting and providing prosecutable evidence of drivers illegally using mobile phones whilst driving, as well as seatbelt offences. Acusensus has commenced these proceedings to protect its intellectual property rights, having deployed the world's first ongoing enforcement camera program to detect drivers illegally using phones whilst driving in New South Wales in 2019.

Business Development

Acusensus programs change driver behaviours and reduce road trauma. Since deploying Acusensus speed enforcement cameras in regional Queensland last year, the number of excessive speeders<sup>1</sup> detected by the cameras has decreased by 92%.

Transport for NSW has provided notice that it has elected to extend the Mobile Speed Camera contract for an additional year once the initial contract period ends on 30 June 2024. The Company continues to have discussions with existing customers in relation to increasing units and/or expanding scope and has a strong pipeline of projects it is working on responses to.

In the UK, Acusensus continues the move from one-off pilots to medium-term engagements for distracted driving and seat belt enforcement. Following a successful pilot using Acusensus' technology in 2021, National Highways has commenced a 12-month trial with 10 regional forces, covering ~25% of England's strategic roads. This will allow forces to carry out a detailed evaluation of the 'Heads-Up' technology.

In the US, the Company is progressing opportunities with state governments to deploy real-time distracted driving and speed enforcement solutions. The Company also pursues data collection opportunities including having recently secured a two-year contract with a state university with a value of US$0.5 million. The Company also bid its technology for state-wide work zones automated speed enforcement services in Washington State, however this tender was closed with no award made to any party to allow Washington State Department of Transport to revise the program's scope and conditions.

The Company exhibited at the biennial Intertraffic Conference in April, launching and presenting its road worker safety solution for the first time and presenting on its push into multi-function transportable enforcement.

Financial update

Acusensus received $11.7 million of cash from customers and had net operating cash inflows of $1.2 million for Q3 FY24. Operating cash flow for Q3 FY24 benefitted from $0.3 million insurance proceeds but was not impacted by working capital distortions experienced in the previous quarters. For the year to date to 31 March 2024, Acusensus had $34.2 million of cash receipts and $1.7 million of net operating cash inflows.

Unaudited revenue for the quarter totalled $12.1 million. This represents 11% growth compared with the prior year, driven by Queensland Department of Transport for Main Roads speed enforcement services commencing in May 2023 and revenue growth in the US. Revenue declined 5% compared to the last quarter as a result of short-term contracts in the US and UK ceasing and a temporary delay in the commencement dates of some new contracts.

Financial outlook

The Company reiterates that it expects to deliver FY24 revenue in the range of $49 million - $51 million and EBITDA in the range of $4 million - $5 million.

Use of funds

Acusensus listed on the ASX on 12 January 2023. The use of funds utilised during the quarter are in line with the use of funds set out in the prospectus.

Use of funds ($m)	Total Raised	Used to 31/3/2024
R&D - Product development	3.5	2.4
International expansion:
- North America	3.0	1.7
- Europe	2.5	1.2

About Acusensus

Acusensus is a technology company that was founded in 2018 with a mission to design and develop artificial intelligence enabled road safety solutions. Collaborating with governments and commercial stakeholders to tackle distracted driving globally is Acusensus' first priority.

Acusensus has pioneered intelligent solutions that provide anywhere, anytime digital evidence that can be used in conjunction with law enforcement to drive behavioural change and improve road safety. Acusensus technology is used to detect and provide prosecutable evidence of distracted driving (mobile phone use), seatbelt compliance, speeding, railway crossing compliance and the monitoring of vehicles of interest.

Acusensus listed on the Australian Securities Exchange in January 2023. Acusensus is headquartered in Melbourne, Australia, with offices also in Sydney, Brisbane, London (UK) and Las Vegas (United States).
