Investors benefit from an easily accessible listed structure with 'live' pricing and sufficient liquidity around 'fair value'. Investors can buy and sell units on ASX (ticker: MOGL) in the same way as other listed securities, through a broker or trading account or choose to invest directly with the Fund.

INVESTMENT REPORT

APRIL 2024

FUND COMMENTARY

Global equity markets hit some turbulence in April as investors grew concerned that US interest rate expectations were too optimistic. There are always narratives in markets – sometimes they're positive, sometimes they're negative. And short-term market movements are usually dominated by these.

The benefit of Montaka's investment strategy – seeking to own the world's most advantaged businesses, well positioned within large structural transformations, while they remain undervalued – is that we can look through the short-term machinations of the market. Instead, we remain focused on the long-term trajectories of growth, business quality, and valuation upside. And on these dimensions, we couldn't be happier with Montaka's investee companies.

Many of Montaka's companies have already reported their Q1 results and commentary. And these reports generally tell a great story. The growth in earnings power that we see on the horizon for businesses like Blackstone, Microsoft, ServiceNow, LVMH, and S&P Global, to name just a few, remains substantial and high-probability.

Spotify's result was a particular stand-out. As a shareholder in Spotify for several years now, we have followed the journey of substantial business investment in recent years, to now seeing the fruits of these investments materialize. Subscriber growth is strong, pricing has inflected upwards, advertising has rebounded, gross margins are increasing, and fixed cost overheads are shrinking.

Spotify's stock price has quadrupled over the last 18 months. We remain disciplined in assessing price relative to our assessment of intrinsic business value. And we still see material upside from current levels. This is why Spotify remains in Montaka's portfolio today.
