1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 ASX Listing Rules

This policy has been drafted in accordance with the ASX Listing Rules. In particular, this policy satisfies Listing Rule 12.9, which requires a listed entity to have a trading policy covering its directors and other key management personnel and regulating trading in its securities during certain “prohibited periods”.

1.2 Purpose of policy

- (a) This document sets out the Securities Trading Policy of the Company for the purposes of compliance with the insider trading laws under the Corporations Act.
- (b) The policy includes only a summary of the relevant provisions contained in the Corporations Act and should not be relied upon as legal advice.

2.4 Information will be regarded as being generally available, and therefore not Inside Information, if:

- (a) it consists of readily observable matter, which requires the information to be directly observable in a "public arena" such as a judgment in court, a sufficiently detailed news story in a capital city newspaper, a media release or other published statement of the Company; or
- (b) it has been brought to the attention of investors through an announcement to ASX, and a reasonable period has elapsed since the announcement.

3. WHAT ARE THE CONSEQUENCES OF INSIDER TRADING?

3.1 Insider trading is a criminal offence. Breach of the insider trading laws may expose you and/or members of your family and/or other persons to whom you pass Inside Information, to prosecution, punishable by substantial fines or lengthy imprisonment or both, under the Corporations Act.

in those Securities under the Corporations Act and this applies even where the trade occurs within a permitted Trading Window specified in this policy.

- 4.3 Before a Restricted Personnel or other Employee trades in the Company's Securities, they should consider carefully whether they are in possession of any Inside Information that might preclude them from trading at that time and, if they have any doubt on that score, they should not trade.

5. SHORT TRADING

Restricted Personnel and Employees must not under any circumstances both buy and sell Company Securities within a 30-day period.

- 8.1 Under exceptional circumstances, Restricted Personnel may apply to the appropriate Nominated Person for prior written clearance to deal with the Company's Securities during a Closed Period, provided that they are not in possession of Inside Information.
- 8.2 Examples of exceptional circumstances where the Company may provide prior written clearance to deal with the Company's Securities include:
- (a) a severe financial hardship caused by a pressing financial commitment that cannot be satisfied otherwise than by selling the Company's Securities; or
 - (b) a requirement under a court order (for example in a bona fide family settlement) or some other overriding legal or regulatory requirement to transfer or sell the Company Securities.

- 8.8 A decision to refuse clearance is final and binding on the person seeking the clearance. If the clearance is refused, the person seeking the clearance must keep that information confidential and not disclose it to anyone.
- 8.9 Generally, the Nominated Person should not grant a clearance to trade if they are aware that the Company is likely within the next five business days to release a periodic financial report or other financial data that might come as a surprise to the market or make an announcement of market sensitive information under Listing Rule 3.1.

- 8.10 Any clearance granted will be given in writing to the applicant and will remain effective for 5 business days from the date of the grant of approval.
- 8.11 A clearance to trade may be withdrawn by the Nominated Person(s) if new information comes to light or there is a change in circumstances related to the clearance. If the person seeking clearance comes into possession of Inside Information after receiving a clearance to trade, they must not trade despite having received the clearance.
- 8.12 A person who possesses Inside Information about the Company's Securities is generally prohibited from trading in those Company Securities under insider trading laws and this applies even where a person has been given a clearance under this policy (whether under exceptional circumstances or otherwise).
- 8.13 Any clearance to trade given under this policy is not an endorsement of the proposed trade and the person doing the trading is individually responsible for their investment decisions and their compliance with insider trading laws.
- 8.14 Where a Restricted Personnel breaches this policy by trading in Company Securities during a Closed Period without prior written clearance, the Company may make an announcement to the market explaining the circumstances surrounding the breach and the disciplinary and / or remedial action the Company intends to take.

9. EXCEPTIONS TO POLICY

- 9.1 The restrictions on trading in Closed Periods do not apply to:

 - (b) accepting an offer made to all or a majority of securityholders (for example, in a takeover, scheme of arrangement or equal access buy-back);

- 9.2 However the holder must still provide prior notification in accordance with this policy. If you are uncertain about any of these exceptions you should also discuss the matter with the Company Secretary or the relevant Nominated Person.
