How you can get your money out early

Early redemption by Chorus

The Capital Notes have a term of 31 years. However, the Capital Notes may be redeemed prior to the Maturity Date in certain circumstances. Chorus may elect to redeem some or all of your Capital Notes:

- (i) on any Reset Date;
- (ii) on any date falling in the period of three months prior to the First Reset Date;
- (iii) on any Interest Payment Date after a Reset Date; or
- (iv) at any time if a Tax Event or Rating Agency Event occurs.

Chorus may also elect to redeem all (but not some only) of your Capital Notes at any time if there are less than 100 million Capital Notes on issue.

The Supervisor may elect (and must elect if directed by a Noteholder Extraordinary Resolution) to demand repayment of all of your Capital Notes early if an Event of Default occurs which is continuing.

If not redeemed prior, Chorus will redeem all of your Capital Notes on the Maturity Date.

See section 3 of this PDS (Terms of the Offer) for more information.

Sale of Capital Notes

Chorus intends to quote these Capital Notes on the NZX Debt Market. This means you may be able to sell them on the NZX Debt Market before the end of their term if there are interested buyers. If you sell your Capital Notes, the price you get will vary depending on factors such as the financial condition of Chorus and movements in the market interest rates. You may receive less than the full amount that you paid for them.

How Capital Notes rank for repayment

The Capital Notes are referred to as subordinated notes because they are subordinated to all other indebtedness of Chorus, other than indebtedness expressed to rank equally with, or subordinate to the Capital Notes.

On a liquidation of Chorus as Issuer, the Capital Notes will rank:

- behind liabilities which are preferred by law, guaranteed liabilities, other borrowings secured over assets of Chorus and other unsubordinated liabilities;
- equally with (and will be repaid at the same time and pro rata with) other Noteholders and with all other unsecured and subordinated financial indebtedness of Chorus (for example, any other notes ranking equally with the Capital Notes that may be issued by Chorus in the future); and
- ahead of claims of holders of ordinary shares in Chorus and holders of securities and other financial products and financial indebtedness that rank after the Capital Notes.

Further information on the ranking of the Capital Notes on the liquidation of Chorus can be found in section 5 of this PDS (Key features of the Capital Notes).

No security

The Capital Notes are not secured against any of Chorus' assets.

Key risks affecting this investment

Investments in debt securities have risks. A key risk is that Chorus does not meet its commitments to repay you or pay you interest (credit risk). Section 6 of this PDS (Risks of investing) discusses the main factors that give rise to the risk. You should consider if the credit risk of these debt securities is suitable for you.

The interest rate for these Capital Notes should also reflect the degree of credit risk. In general, higher returns are demanded by investors from businesses with higher risk of defaulting on their commitments. You need to decide whether the offer is fair.

Chorus considers that the most significant risk factors are:

- Risks relating to ongoing market competition together with sustained downside economic pressures on both businesses and end-customers – Chorus faces the dual risks of market competition and economic factors such as inflation, cost-of-living, interest rates, employment rates and immigration affecting the demand for Chorus’ services.
- Risks relating to regulation – material changes to market regulation by the Government or regulators (such as the New Zealand Commerce Commission (Commission)) could have a material impact on Chorus’ financial performance and affect its ability to deliver on Chorus’ strategic priorities, such as retiring copper to become an all fibre business.

This summary does not cover all of the risks of investing in the Capital Notes. You should also read section 6 of this PDS (Risks of investing) and section 5 of this PDS (Key features of the Capital Notes).

What is the Capital Notes’ credit rating?

A credit rating is an independent opinion of the capability and willingness of an entity to repay its debts (in other words, its creditworthiness). It is not a guarantee that the financial product being offered is a safe investment. A credit rating should be considered alongside all other relevant information when making an investment decision.

The Capital Notes have been rated by S&P Global Ratings (S&P) and Moody’s Investors Service, Inc (Moody’s).

S&P gives ratings from AAA through to C. S&P’s ratings may be modified with a (+) or (-) sign to show relative standing within a rating category.

Moody’s gives ratings from Aaa to Ca. Moody’s ratings may be modified with a number, 1 to 3, indicating whether the obligation ranks at the higher end (1), mid-range (2), or lower end (3) of a rating category.

As at the date of this PDS, the Capital Notes have been assigned an issue credit rating of:

- BB+ by S&P; and
- Baa3 by Moody’s.

Documents

The terms of the Capital Notes, and other terms key to the Offer, are set out in the Trust Deed, as supplemented by the Supplemental Deed. You should read these documents. Copies may be obtained from the Disclose Register at www.disclose-register.companiesoffice.govt.nz.

4. Purpose of the Offer

The proceeds of the Offer are expected to be used to finance the repayment and redemption of Crown Funding Securities due 30 June 2025. The Crown Funding Securities were issued to NIFF by Chorus to partially finance the building of the UFB network. This purpose will not change, irrespective of the total amount that is raised.

See also section 5 of this PDS (Key features of the Capital Notes) for more information.

The Offer is not underwritten.

5. Key features of the Capital Notes

A number of key features of the Capital Notes are described in section 3 of this PDS (Terms of the Offer). The other key features of the Capital Notes are described below.

The Supervisor

The Supervisor has been appointed to act as supervisor for the Noteholders on the terms contained in the Trust Deed.

You can only enforce your rights under the Capital Notes, through the Supervisor. However, you can enforce your rights under the Capital Notes only against Chorus directly if the Supervisor is obliged to enforce but has failed to do so within a reasonable period.

Ranking

The Capital Notes constitute unsecured, subordinated, debt obligations of Chorus.

On a liquidation of Chorus, amounts owing to Noteholders rank equally with all other unsecured, subordinated obligations of Chorus.

The ranking of the Capital Notes on a liquidation of Chorus is summarised in the diagram below. The diagram is a summary of indicative amounts only and in the event of a liquidation of Chorus, the actual priority amounts may differ.

Diagram showing ranking of Capital Notes on liquidation of Chorus

HIGHER RANKING EARLIER PRIORITY	RANKING ON LIQUIDATION	TYPE OF LIABILITY/EQUITY	AMOUNT ¹
	Liabilities that rank above the Capital Notes	Liabilities preferred by law (for example, Inland Revenue for certain unpaid taxes) ²	$19 million
		Other borrowings secured over assets of Chorus	$0 million
		Unsubordinated and unsecured liabilities, including Chorus' bank debt, NZX-listed senior bonds, Euro Medium Term Notes and Australian Medium Term Notes, and the Senior Portion of the Crown Funding Debt Securities	$3,088 million
	Liabilities that rank equally with the Capital Notes	Capital Notes ³	$170 million
	Liabilities that rank below the Capital Notes	Subordinated Portion of the Crown Funding Debt Securities	$253 million
Other subordinated liabilities (Crown Funding Equity Securities)		$768 million
LOWER RANKING LATER PRIORITY	Equity ⁴	Shares, reserves and retained earnings	$662 million

1. Amounts shown above are indicative based on the financial position of Chorus as at 31 December 2024, adjusted for the issue of the Capital Notes and the repayment and redemption of the Crown Funding Securities due 30 June 2025. They are subject to rounding adjustments.

2. Liabilities that may, depending on the source of payment, rank above the Capital Notes on liquidation include employee entitlements for unpaid salaries and wages, holiday pay and bonuses, and PAYE, and amounts owing to the Inland Revenue for unpaid taxes and goods and services tax. There are typically other liabilities which are preferred by law or secured, including enforcement costs and similar, which arise when a company is in liquidation which are not possible to foresee and cannot therefore be quantified.

3. Assuming $170 million of Capital Notes are issued under the Offer. If less than $170 million of Capital Notes are issued, the amount of the shortfall may be reflected in a higher amount for Chorus' "Other subordinated liabilities" and/or "Unsubordinated and unsecured liabilities."

4. The amount of equity stated above includes an amount in relation to Chorus' existing quoted equity securities (i.e., Chorus' ordinary shares which are quoted on the NZX Main Board).

Restrictions on borrowing

The terms of the Capital Notes do not limit the ability of Chorus to borrow further money. The Trust Deed does not contain any restrictions on the ability of Chorus to borrow or incur further indebtedness.

Chorus could therefore, at any time after the Issue Date, create further liabilities that rank equally with, or in priority to, the Capital Notes. These further liabilities could, for example, be a new borrowing facility with a bank, or the issue of further senior NZX-listed bonds, Euro Medium Term Notes or Australian Medium Term Notes.

Restrictions on granting security

Chorus has agreed with the Supervisor for its senior bonds and its banks that it will not charge or secure its assets in favour of other creditors, subject to certain exclusions. These exclusions allow Chorus to secure its assets.

The exclusions include:

- if the aggregate principal amount secured does not exceed 5% of the total tangible assets of Chorus; or
- in certain other limited circumstances set out in the senior bond documents (including if the security arises by operation of law, relates to the acquisition of an asset or a project, is already in existence when the relevant asset was acquired or before the entity granting that security became a guarantor, substitutes an existing permitted security, is over cash or financial investments to secure amounts borrowed that are consistent with ordinary banking practice, is created with the consent of the Supervisor for its senior bonds or relates to intangible assets).

The Capital Notes are unsecured. Noteholders do not, and will not, have the benefit of the restrictions and other terms in the senior bond documents and bank documents and these documents may be amended or waived without the consent of or notice to the Noteholders.

Guarantees

Chorus as Issuer is solely responsible for repaying, and paying interest on, the Capital Notes. The Capital Notes are not guaranteed by any person. For the avoidance of doubt, Noteholders do not, and will not, have the benefit of the guarantees granted in favour of the Supervisor in respect of Chorus' senior bonds.

Events of Default

The Events of Default are contained in the Supplemental Deed. They include:

- Chorus fails to pay any deferred interest (plus all accrued but unpaid interest on the deferred interest) by the fifth anniversary of its original deferral and such non-payment is not remedied within three Business Days;
- a failure by Chorus to comply with the Restrictions on Deferral (when in force);
- where Chorus fails to pay any amount required to be paid on a redemption of the Capital Notes and such non-payment is not remedied within two Business Days; and
- an insolvency event of Chorus occurs.

For full details of the Events of Default see clause 1.2 of the Supplemental Deed. If an Event of Default occurs and is continuing, the Supervisor may in its discretion, and must upon being directed to do by a Noteholder Extraordinary Resolution, declare the Principal Amount and any accrued interest of the Capital Notes due and payable. If this occurs, Chorus must repay to Noteholders the Redemption Amount.

Rating Agency Event

If a Rating Agency Event occurs, Chorus may choose to redeem all or some of the Capital Notes for the Alternative Redemption Amount via an announcement on the NZX (which will also contain the date of redemption).

Full details and the requirements for a Rating Agency Event are contained in clause 6 of the Supplemental Deed.

Tax Event

If a Tax Event occurs, Chorus may choose to redeem all or some of the Capital Notes for the Redemption Amount via an announcement on the NZX (which will also contain the redemption date).

Before making an election to redeem the Capital Notes, Chorus must receive an opinion from a reputable legal counsel or other reputable tax adviser that, as a result of an amendment, change or clarification of legislation, regulation, etc., the interest payments on the Capital Notes would no longer be fully deductible for tax purposes.

For full details of, and requirements for, a Tax Event see clause 6 in the Supplemental Deed.

Other relevant information about the Trust Deed

The Trust Deed for the Capital Notes contains a number of standard provisions, including in relation to the powers and duties of the Supervisor, and the process for amending the Trust Deed. You can find a copy of the Trust Deed on the Disclose Register. You should read the Trust Deed for further information.

6. Risks of investing

Introduction

This section 6 describes the following potential key risk factors:

- general risks associated with an investment in the Capital Notes; and
- specific risks relating to Chorus' creditworthiness.

Key risks outlined in this section are based on an assessment of the probability of a risk occurring and its potential impact (individually or in combination with other key risks) at the date of this PDS. There is no guarantee or assurance that key risks will not change, alter in their significance or that other risks will not emerge.

Where practicable, Chorus seeks to implement risk mitigation strategies to minimise exposure to some of the risks outlined below. However, there can be no assurance that these risk mitigation strategies will fully protect Chorus from all or any risks.

You should carefully consider these risk factors (together with the other information in this PDS) before deciding to invest in the Capital Notes. This summary does not cover all of the risks in investing in the Capital Notes.

Before making any investment decision it is important that investors consider the suitability of an investment in the Capital Notes in light of their own individual risk profile for investments, investment objectives and personal circumstances (including financial and taxation issues). The risks described in this section do not take account of the personal circumstances, financial position or investment requirements of any particular person other than Chorus.

You should also carefully consider the features of the Capital Notes which differ from the features of a standard senior note. Those features include the ability of Chorus to defer interest, optional early redemption rights for Chorus, margin step-ups and the subordinated nature of the Capital Notes.

General Risks

An investment in the Capital Notes is subject to the following general risks.

Credit Risk on Chorus

If Chorus encounters severe financial difficulty or becomes insolvent it may be unable to meet its obligations under the Capital Notes and you may not be able to recover your full principal investments and/or any interest due and unpaid.

See section 5 of this PDS (Key features of the Capital Notes) for more information on the ranking of the Capital Notes in the event of a liquidation of Chorus.

Secondary Market Risk

The market price of the Capital Notes on the NZX Debt Market may fluctuate. The market price may be below the Issue Price due to factors related to Chorus' creditworthiness, or because of other factors, such as:

- the Capital Notes may never develop a trading market, or, if it develops, it may not be very liquid. The subordinated nature, and interest payment deferral and optional redemption features of the Capital Notes are also likely to limit their market value, and the secondary market of the Capital Notes;
- the level, direction and volatility of market interest rates. If market interest rates go up, the market value of the Capital Notes would typically be expected to go down and vice versa;
- Noteholders seeking to sell relatively small or relatively large amounts of Capital Notes may not be able to do so at prices comparable to those available to other Noteholders; and
- the Capital Notes may be more sensitive generally to adverse changes in Chorus' financial condition than other debt securities.

As a result, if you wish to sell your Capital Notes before maturity there is a risk:

- you may be unable to find a buyer; or
- the price at which you are able to sell them may be less than the amount you paid for them.

Specific risks relating to Chorus' creditworthiness

Risks relating to the Chorus Group's network and business Demand for the Chorus Group's services may decrease as a result of market factors

Chorus' revenue may reduce from any one or more factors, including greater numbers of retail service providers (RSPs) and/or business and retail customers using competing fixed line, fixed wireless, mobile, satellite or other alternative technologies. In areas where Chorus does not offer fibre network services, customers are migrating to competing networks as Chorus retires its copper network (targeted to be achieved by 2030). The Chorus Group is likely to lose market share and copper revenue as a result. However, Chorus currently expects this loss of revenue to be proportionately offset by reduced operating costs as the copper network is retired (the copper network carries higher electricity and maintenance costs than the fibre network).

Material loss of market share and any resulting material loss of revenue, would have an adverse impact on the Chorus Group's earnings and profitability.

Demand for fibre services may vary

The Chorus Group's future revenues and profitability are impacted by:

- the growth in demand for fibre services as customers migrate from alternative networks or new premises are connected;
- the mix of fibre services sold between basic plans and higher-priced premium services; and
- the reduction in copper and other legacy service revenues as customers migrate to alternative networks, the copper network is shutdown and Chorus' legacy equipment is withdrawn.

Demand growth for fibre services may also be affected by retail and business consumer confidence, inflation (reduced disposable income), changes in migration trends, employment rates, and attributed utility (e.g., risk of negative impact if the work from home or streamed video content trends reverse).

Market growth for fibre services is partly determined by the number of new dwellings being built and released into the market. Risks to the development of new premises include supply chain shortages, as well as local and central government policies that contribute to cost escalations. Financial instability of property developers impacted by general market conditions, such as slow upstream property sales, may also hamper new premises growth. There are also demand-related risks such as population decline due to negative net migration and cost inflation reducing affordability of new builds leading to low occupancy.

The Chorus Group supplies fibre services to businesses, so demand for these services is driven by a number of factors including the health of the wider economy and availability of competing services.

The Chorus Group's profitability is also driven by the impact of inflation on input costs such as service company work, electricity and network equipment costs. There is a risk that high inflationary pressures cannot be offset by increases in pricing, leading to reduced profitability.

The above risk factors either individually or in combination may reduce the Chorus Group's revenues, increase its costs or otherwise adversely impact its financial and competitive positions and performance. These risks could be increased if the Chorus Group fails to deliver adequate performance and an appropriate experience to its RSPs and customers.

Concentration of the customer base

The Chorus Group has a concentrated customer base consisting predominantly of a small number of RSPs. The concentration of RSPs heightens the risk that a dispute with an RSP, or an RSP's failure to pay for services on an ongoing basis (whether as a result of a dispute or an RSP experiencing financial difficulty), will have an adverse effect on the Chorus Group's collectability of receivables and cash flow.

Field services risk and customer experience

The Chorus Group engages external suppliers to build, operate and maintain its network and to supply services, equipment and materials. Significant failure by these parties could impact the Chorus Group's ability to meet its other obligations. For example, failure of a supplier could result in Chorus breaching its obligations to an RSP and could affect the Chorus Group's financial position and performance.

Given the fibre network build is largely complete, declining work volumes and difficulty in accurately forecasting build work increases the risk that third party contractors and the skilled technicians employed by them seek alternative work. The Chorus Group is also dependent on its own skilled and experienced employees to provide its services. If the Chorus Group is unable to attract and retain employees with key technical, service or institutional knowledge, this may impact the Chorus Group's ability to deliver its future plans and materially affect its financial performance. It may also impact Chorus' service performance – i.e. the service provided may not meet fibre customer or RSP partner expectations, or regulatory requirements under price-quality regulation.

Potential risks to the Chorus Group's ability to retain skilled and experienced people include employee exposure to significant work related pressures, including changes to Chorus' adaptive operating model as the Chorus Group moves to being a simpler all-fibre business by 2030.

The Chorus Group may require significant capital resources to fund its business

The Chorus Group may have large funding requirements from time to time, particularly if it determines to invest in growth opportunities that either leverage the Chorus Group's existing assets or grow its infrastructure. Such opportunities may also expose Chorus to risks related to infrastructure and construction projects, including unexpected costs and delays requiring additional or different funding.

The Chorus Group's ability to refinance maturing debt and other securities on favourable terms (including the current $1.34 billion of refinancing for the Crown Funding Securities as they fall due in tranches over the next 11 years) or raise new debt, may be adversely affected if it experiences a decline in its operating performance or revenues, if there is a material and unexpected increase in capital expenditure, if financial market conditions are volatile or if it is unable to maintain its investment grade credit rating.

This could limit the Chorus Group's access to funding and/or increase its funding costs.

Technological security and resilience

The Chorus Group relies on information technology (IT) systems. The Chorus Group's own IT systems, and the third party systems it relies on (including shared legacy systems with Spark New Zealand Limited) are within a complex technical and operating environment. The Chorus Group continues to reduce its risk by migrating services off shared legacy systems where possible. However, the retiring copper network continues to be supported by such systems.

Chorus has a complex and evolving set of IT systems to support its wholesale fibre network, associated processes and enterprise capability. While leveraging industry standard/leading technologies and suppliers with appropriate support arrangements, these systems are not immune to risk of failure.

The Chorus Group has significant contingency strategies in place to address business disruption events (including cyber threats), and mitigate associated risks, including those relating to operation of the Chorus Group's network and IT systems and those of third parties on which it relies. However, a major failure could still occur requiring significant and additional unexpected expenditure. Any interruption to the operations of the Chorus Group's network could result in lost revenue, additional capital expenditure requirements, higher operating costs, damage to the Chorus Group's reputation and liability to RSPs or customers. If failures occur in the regulated fibre access network, the Chorus Group may breach Commission quality standards and negatively impact customer perception of fibre reliability resulting in lower fibre uptake.

The Chorus Group has made commitments to the Commission to keep network congestion below certain levels. Rapid growth in network traffic could congest parts of the network and require additional unforeseen investment in capacity.

The Chorus Group's network infrastructure is vulnerable to damage or interruption from a range of risks, including equipment failure, cable cuts, power failures, earthquake, fire and intentional damage, as well as climate-related events (such as extreme weather events).

The Chorus Group's insurance programme covers all risks (subject to standard exclusions) of physical damage and business interruption for above-ground assets. Specific cover is provided for damage to underground cables in Auckland, Hamilton, Wellington and Dunedin.

Risks relating to the regulatory environment

At the date of this PDS, the majority of the Chorus Group's revenue comes from regulated fibre and copper services.

The Chorus Group's regulated fibre revenues were estimated to be 84% of total revenue in the six months to 31 December 2024. Fibre services provided by the Chorus Group are subject to information disclosure regulations and a portion of these are also subject to price quality regulation by the Commission under the New Zealand Telecommunications Act 2001 (Telco Act). The majority of Chorus Group's remaining copper services have pricing and terms regulated by the Commission, with annual CPI adjustments.

The Commission's Copper Withdrawal Code enables the Chorus Group to withdraw copper services in areas where fibre is available, including other local fibre company fibre areas, subject to certain conditions.

The Commission has recently released a draft report recommending the full deregulation of the Chorus Group copper network in non-fibre areas. There are a number of process steps before the final outcome, detail and timing of any deregulation is confirmed. The details of the final deregulation requirements may mean the Chorus Group is required to spend more on maintaining copper services than it would otherwise choose to.

Maximum revenue

The maximum revenue the Chorus Group can earn in any regulatory year is specified by the Commission in a Price-Quality Determination (PQ Determination), principally with reference to the efficient costs the Chorus Group is expected to incur in each regulatory period, including a return of and on invested capital. The Commission sets the Chorus Group's maximum revenue in the first year of each regulatory control period, and that amount is then inflated by CPI in each subsequent year. Because the maximum allowable revenue is determined by the Commission prior to the commencement of the regulatory period (currently 1 January 2025 to 31 December 2028) on the basis of forecast costs, there is a risk that actual costs will diverge from forecast. There are only limited mechanisms to re-open the revenue cap in the course of each regulatory control period.

Quality standards

The Commission's PQ Determination in December 2024 sets certain quality standards that the Chorus Group must meet in providing fibre fixed line access services. The Chorus Group may incur penalties if it fails to achieve these quality standards.

Changes in regulation may require significant further investment without substantial return and have other consequences

Any further changes in regulation, regulatory reviews or determinations affecting the prices of fibre and copper services may impact demand for those services.

Changes to service specifications and/or non-price terms may also require the Chorus Group to invest in its network or do other things without price increases, other compensation, or in ways which do not provide appropriate cost recovery or an adequate return on investment. Any such changes may adversely affect the Chorus Group's revenue and profitability.

Future government policies, ministerial decisions, regulator decisions or other regulatory outcomes could adversely impact the Chorus Group's operations, market share, competitiveness, financial performance and financial position.

The Chorus Group is subject to other material regulation

The Chorus Group is subject to other regulatory determinations of the Commission including annual fibre information disclosure requirements, a contribution towards the Telecommunications Development Levy imposed under the Telco Act and Commission costs. In addition to enforceable regulatory determinations of the Commission, the Chorus Group is subject to other obligations including open access obligations and telecommunications service obligations under the Telco Act and deeds with the Crown.

Furthermore, certain regulatory and legislative rules limit the Chorus Group's ability to pursue certain business opportunities and activities and, consequently, may affect the returns it can generate on its assets. The Chorus Group's operations, market share, competitiveness and financial performance may be impacted by future government policies, ministerial decisions or regulatory outcomes.

Regulatory proceedings and investigations

Regulatory proceedings and investigations in relation to the Chorus Group may in the future require considerable resources and management attention to be diverted to them, which may adversely affect the Chorus Group's business and results of operations.

Risks associated with the Capital Notes specifically

Deferral of interest payments

There is a risk that interest payments on the Capital Notes will be deferred by Chorus for a period of up to five years, as described in section 3 of this PDS (Terms of the Offer). Chorus has a broad discretion to defer the payment of interest on the Capital Notes, and Noteholders will not have an immediate redemption right in those circumstances.

The Interest Rate may go down after a Reset Date

The Interest Rate will be fixed for an initial period of six years, after which it will be reset on each Reset Date (if the Capital Notes are not redeemed prior).

The Interest Rate after each Reset Date could be higher, the same or lower than the initial Interest Rate (or other previous Interest Rate). The Minimum Initial Interest Rate will only apply for the first six year period from the Issue Date to the First Reset Date.

Redemption prior to the Maturity Date

Although the Capital Notes have a term of 31 years, Chorus may choose to redeem the Capital Notes early in certain circumstances, as described in section 3 of this PDS (Terms of the Offer).

While some of those redemption triggers may appear to be unlikely to occur, history suggests that such events can occur, and Chorus will have the right to redeem after approximately six years and on each subsequent Reset Date.

If Chorus is entitled to redeem any of the Capital Notes, the method and date by which Chorus elects or is required to do so may not accord with the preference of individual Noteholders. This may be disadvantageous in light of market conditions or a Noteholder's individual circumstances.

Structure and ranking

Chorus is a holding company and accordingly substantially all its assets consist of its shareholding in Chorus New Zealand Limited (CNZL) (as the sole operating subsidiary of Chorus, at the date of this PDS). As such, a further activity of Chorus is to provide financing to CNZL and to refinance these obligations. CNZL does not guarantee the Capital Notes. The ability of Chorus to satisfy its obligations under the Capital Notes will depend upon payments to Chorus by CNZL and/or financial support it may obtain from CNZL.

The Capital Notes rank behind all of Chorus' unsubordinated obligations. In a liquidation of Chorus, the holders of the Capital Notes would be paid only after all amounts owing by Chorus to its bank lenders, holders of Chorus' NZX-listed senior bonds, Euro Medium Term Notes and Australian Medium Term Notes, the Senior Portion of the Crown Funding Debt Securities, and general and trade unsubordinated creditors, have been paid.

After payment of those amounts, there may be insufficient funds available to the liquidator to repay all or any of the amounts owing on the Capital Notes.

Supervisor's enforcement rights

Investors should be aware that even if the right to seek repayment of the Capital Notes is exercised following the occurrence of an Event of Default, the Supervisor has very limited powers to enforce these rights given the subordinated nature of the Capital Notes. For example, the Supervisor has no ability to appoint a receiver with a view to recovering amounts owing to Noteholders only, and is only entitled to file a conditional claim in the event of the liquidation of Chorus requiring repayment of the Capital Notes after all prior ranking indebtedness has been repaid in full.

7. Tax

If you are tax resident in New Zealand or otherwise receive payments of interest on the Capital Notes that are subject to the resident withholding tax rules, resident withholding tax will be deducted from payments of interest to you, unless you notify the Securities Registrar that you have RWT-exempt status (as that term is defined in the Income Tax Act 2007) and that status remains valid on the Record Date for the relevant Interest Payment Date.

If you receive payments of interest on the Capital Notes subject to the non-resident withholding tax rules, an amount equal to any AIL payable will be deducted from payments of interest to you in lieu of deducting non-resident withholding tax (except where you elect otherwise, or it is not possible under any law, in which case non-resident withholding tax will be deducted).

If the AIL regime applies, Chorus will apply the zero rate of AIL if possible, and otherwise pay AIL at the applicable rate.

Indemnity

If, in respect of any of your Capital Notes, Chorus becomes liable to make any payment of, or on account of, tax payable by you, then you will be required to indemnify Chorus in respect of such liability. Any amounts paid by Chorus in relation to any such liability may be recovered from you by withholding the amount from further payments to you in respect of Capital Notes. See the Trust Deed for further details.

Generally

There may be other tax consequences from acquiring or disposing of the Capital Notes, including income tax consequences. If you have any queries relating to the tax consequences of the investment, you should obtain professional advice on those consequences.

The above generalised summary is based on the taxation laws in force in New Zealand as at the date of this PDS. Future changes to these or other laws may affect the tax consequences of an investment in the Capital Notes.
