FY18 at a glance

FY18 had its challenges, but we are well positioned for FY19

Revenue $144.9m

 Growth in digital work (~$27m, including contribution from The Works) offset by decline in traditional consulting revenue (~$23m)

Underlying EBITDA $15.2m

- Faster than anticipated decline associated with traditional consulting work (across two major clients)
- Deferral of some Q4 product sales into Q1 FY19
- Investment in digital expansion (marketing, business development, proactive hiring and training)

Strong finish to FY18

- Q4 revenue $39m; Q4 EBITDA $5.5m
- Utilisation levels have held going into FY19

Balance sheet in place that supports growth

107% cash conversion in FY18

Board declared a full year dividend of 3.5 cps fully franked

Business review completed

A deep dive business review was undertaken

- We looked again at our "Digital Services/Digital Partner" strategy a strategy that aims to broadening our business into growth areas with larger and longer customer engagements
 - We concluded that this strategy is delivering growth and is the right strategy
- We had a close look at how we deliver projects and specifically RXPs specialisation and practice structure
 - It was clear that this allows us to provide focus and leadership is specific areas of capability which are aligned to our strategy
 - We concluded that these play an important role in delivering on our digital strategy and are critical to future growth
- We identified a number of operational process improvements, specifically around forecasting, sales pipeline and engagement
 - Reviewed and re-aligned our underlying structures to our strategy
 - Enhanced resource management processes
 - Enhanced our financial forecasting and management processes with improved real-time reporting and the addition of the regional axis within the business
 - Rationalised the specialisations offered in Hong Kong a more focussed go-to-market aligned to industry demand
- We also identified a number of organisational changes that would accelerate execution of our digital strategy and provide greater focus and accountability on financial performance whilst at the same time deliver efficiencies
 - Expanded the role of Group Executive Digital & Delivery role to drive margin expansion and acceleration of digital growth ("Making happier Humans" sales initiative in place targeting specific clients) Jared Hill
 - Introduction of 2 new Regional Group Executive roles to help streamline overall decision making and drive alignment to digital strategy (full P&L and operational responsibility for their respective regions) Charles Agee & Kevin Brough
- We are also working to introduce a Long Term Incentive plan that more closely aligns key Executive performance to total shareholder return

Ross Fielding Chief Executive Officer

- Maintaining commitment to our strategy
- Growth in digital continues
- Maintaining people & client focus
- Repositioning RXP group in the market the pitch

FY18 – additional comments

Rebalanced work mix

- Growth in digital has been pleasing
- Reduction in traditional consulting work in the first 8 months across two major clients

Margin impacted by traditional consulting work

- Impact associated with two major clients now managed as we have transitioned to new rate cards
- Driving up "digital" services work has offset this in Q4

Good client wins and key project milestones delivered across FY18

- A number of significant high profile digital projects have been enhancing RXPs digital delivery reputation
- All existing client MSAs retained in FY18, with a number of MSAs expanded in scope
- A number of new clients and MSA's added during FY18
- Our digital strategy is resulting in new revenue streams with a range of client wins and broadening existing client mandates

The Works delivered in line with expectations

- Good client retention, with new clients offsetting any changes
- The integrated RXP | The Works has resulted in strategic client/project wins

Strong Q4 set the scene for FY19
