Beam Communications Holdings Limited - New ASX Code: BCC

The Company wishes to remind shareholders and prospective investors that, as announced on 22 November, the company name has changed from World Reach Limited to Beam Communications Holdings Limited.

The Company's ASX Code has also changed today from 'WRR' to 'BCC'.

Website and email addresses - from today www.beamcommunications.com will operate as the parent company website and an email address for use by investors has been created, investor@beamcommunications.com

The rationale behind the change was the overwhelming proportion of business transactions conducted by the group carry the name 'Beam Communications'. Many customers, suppliers and members of the public are only aware of Beam Communications and the Beam brand and it was often confusing for trading partners and prospective investors to be confronted with the name World Reach Limited. The activities and business of the Company have not altered as a result of this change to our legal name.
