The commercial centre of Beenleigh has continued to attract A-Grade commercial office tenants, with sustainable income growth expected over the medium to long term.

The asset is located in a government tenant hub, with the Department of Resources, Magistrates Court and Department of Corrective Services all within 600 metres, making the asset ideally located to serve as a long-term home to Logan City Council.

AOF Fund Manager, Nikki Panagopoulos, said:

"The acquisition supports AOF's refined strategy of owning commercial real estate that aligns with the key asset attributes of affordability, accessibility and amenity."

"In undertaking this acquisition, we have been able to recycle capital from the sale of 241 Adelaide Street, Brisbane, an ageing leasehold asset requiring significant capital expenditure into 96 York Street, Beenleigh, a brand new purpose-built freehold building that provides long term income certainty with minimal capital expenditure requirements and sustainable initiatives."

"Management will continue to execute on its active asset management strategies, including refurbishments and developments while assessing further capital recycling opportunities. These opportunities will be investigated in parallel with the assessment of the proposed merger with the Australian Unity Diversified Property Fund".

The asset will be funded with existing debt facilities and settlement is expected in December 2021.
