On 30 June 2021, IODM announced that it had signed a material contract with WUBS regarding the updated partnership agreement in the UK Education sector. The economics of this contract changed the nature in which IODM derives revenue from one of outperformance to a revenue sharing arrangement on existing WUBS clients.

The target market is currently largely WUBS client orientated. The platform delivered to these clients is a targeted Accounts Receivable ERP system with CRM and problem-solving capabilities. The demographic that this system applies to is international students and allows the Universities to offer a seamless payment portal either as an upfront payment or through a payment plan. In 2019/20 there were ~538,600¹ overseas students studying while on 6 February 2021 the UK Government launched an update to their International Education Strategy which is aimed at recruiting 600,000¹ students annually. In 2015, £4.8B¹ was spent on tuition fees alone.

It is envisaged that there will be a heavy skew towards overseas revenue going forward. It is also planned to extend this arrangement to WUBS education clients in North America and other regions.

1. Does the entity expect that it will continue to have the current level of net operating cash flows for the time being and, if not, why not?

On 30 June 2021, IODM announced the signing of a new commercial agreement with Western Union Business Solutions ("WUBS") as well as the signing of a new material contract in the UK education sector. Consequently IODM is comfortable with the current cash at bank balances versus cash flow budgets which take in to account the following:

- increase in Revenue and Cash Receipts which is forecast to continue in an accelerated manner as a result of the new commercial agreement with WUBS
- the rollout of this education offering with WUBS into other markets most notably the USA

2. Has the entity taken any steps, or does it propose to take any steps, to raise further cash to fund its operations and, if so, what are those steps and how likely does it believe that they will be successful?

The IOD Board will continue to manage capital in a prudent manner that benefits shareholders.

3. Does the entity expect to be able to continue its operations and to meet its business objectives and, if so, on what basis?

IOD expects to continue its operations and meet its business objectives as pursuant to the answers provided in Questions 1 and 2 of Section 8.6
