Net cash from operating activities for the quarter was $0.14M, with net trading receipts of $0.17M and interest costs paid of ($0.05M). The interest costs mainly relate to repayment of accrued interest on the Tranche 2 convertible notes.
- Net cash flow from investing activities for the period was ($1.0M). This included the final tranche of $0.46M for the investment in Aflorithmic Labs Ltd, $0.19M on further development of IP and a secured loan agreement of $0.35M at 10.00% interest, maturing on 30 April 2022, with Reign (purchaser of the legacy Mobile Q&A business).

Talking Head Update:

- Talking Head development continues according to plan. With clear tech development objectives set for the next 8 months, we are now expanding our development team as we prepare the ground for first deployment of the platform. This will enable early commercial usage with a focus on gathering user insights to improve the system.
- Med-Tech proof of concept - secured PangeaMed as the first paying customer for the Talking Head platform, together with a deep commitment for closer collaboration going forward. Now finalizing a second working proof of concept, two months ahead of internal deadlines (clickable Demo Link, Video Link).
- Our R&D team have overcome a number of technical obstacles with inventiveness and ingenuity. First, the time taken to create a “digital twin” has been slashed from 28 days to 4 days. Second, server efficiency improvements now allow thousands of simultaneous communications on a single server. As a reference, industry standard is 2 communications on a single server. Crowd’s vision to create a human-like video experience, at scale, is finally within grasp.
- Refinement efforts continue, with steady improvements in bringing a new level of human-likeness on the video and audio side. In line with plan and strategy, we are further expanding our team with experts and researchers in the machine learning and artificial intelligence space.
- Commercialization that began with the PangeaMed partnership will continue, with first-use cases to be deployed during this quarter. In this regards the primary objective is the gathering of user insights and market entry.

Mobile Subscription Update:

- The Mobile Subscription division continues to deliver ongoing profit. Optimization measures are continuously being implemented across personnel, sales and marketing functions.
- 205,000 new paying subscribers were acquired in the quarter, an improvement of 63% quarter on the previous quarter (128,000 users acquired on Q1).
- To further support revenue growth, and encourage innovation within the division, a process of establishing in-house media buying has been initiated. This is expected to result in better long-term growth prospects and lessen dependence on third parties.
- Leveraging years of know-how, this division will soon participate in the commercialization of the Talking Head platform in the gaming/entertainment space. The objective is to launch an entertainment-first Talking Head subscription product by the end of this quarter.

Crowd Media's CEO Idan Schmorak said: "Crowd starts 2022 with the tone set on development and growth and ongoing improvement in cash flow. With major technical achievements under our belt, we now pave the way with a team comprised of some of the greatest minds in our chosen space. Unusually for scientists, they have set themselves clear commercial objectives and are delivering great results. Our profitable subscription division continues to build on growth shown last quarter; this will be strengthened with new verticals that include the commercialization of our Talking Head technology in the gaming/entertainment space. We are pleased to release a video that showcases our PoC with PangeaMed and two clickable demos as a glimpse to version 1 of our talking head platform."
