
Nova Top 20 Shareholders As At 4 March 2022

Nova Minerals Limited (Nova or the Company) (ASX: NVA, OTC: NVAAF, FSE: QM3) is pleased to confirm that directors and management recently acquired shares during a trading window (Refer ASX – Change of Directors Interest – 1 March 2022) and will continue to do so when the Trading Policy allows. In addition the top 20 have held strong and/or are adding to their respective positions.

Nova CEO, Mr Christopher Gerteisen commented: “We thank shareholders for their continued support while we unlock our huge exploration upside with 9.6Moz just being a start with further discovery to potentially follow. In addition, we appreciate the support to achieve our goal of becoming the next global gold producer with our clear and demonstrated path to production at the Estelle Gold trend and continue to extract value on our portfolio investments.”

About Nova Minerals

Nova Minerals' vision is to develop North America's next major gold trend. The company is focused on exploration in Alaska's prolific Tintina Gold Belt, a province which hosts a 220 million ounce (Moz) documented gold endowment and some of the world's largest gold mines and discoveries including Victoria Gold's Eagle Mine and Kinross Gold Corporation's Fort Knox Gold Mine. The Company's Estelle Trend development is a 35km long corridor of 21 identified gold prospects bracketed by the Korbel Project in the north and the RPM Project in the south. Currently, these two flagship projects have a combined total estimated JORC gold resource of 9.6 Moz (3 Moz Indicated and 6.6 Moz Inferred) and are host to extensive resource development programs.

Additionally, Nova holds a majority interest in NASDAQ-listed lithium explorer Snow Lake Resources Ltd (NASDAQ: LITM) and a substantial interest in Torian Resources Limited (ASX: TNR), a gold exploration company based in Western Australia.
