No Expected Impact to Hansen's Operations due to Ukraine Conflict

Hansen Technologies (ASX: HSN) ("Hansen"), a leading global provider of customer information and data management systems, wishes to confirm that neither the current conflict in the Ukraine nor the Australian and global sanctions imposed on Russia impact Hansen's business, sales or operations.

Although Hansen's solutions are sold globally into multiple markets, and our customers and offices are similarly global, Hansen has identified no revenue, employee or specific supply chain issues that will impact the Global Hansen business, and neither does it supply any solutions or services into Russia or any territory controlled by Russia.

Hansen wishes to record its support for the Government and people of Ukraine.

This announcement is authorised by the Chairman.
