Investor Newsletter: Issue 16 | April 2022

A Message From the CFO

Dear Shareholders,

I am happy to share with you our latest investor newsletter with updates on Imagination's recent activities.

I have recently returned from two weeks in San Diego, the first time I was able to visit the team since I joined Imagination in December 2020. I must say I was very impressed; the new facility is fantastic and will set us up well for the future. What was more impressive was the team behind Imagination. Being able to immerse myself with them for two weeks has been invaluable and I return home to Australia knowing we are in very good hands. I hope you enjoy getting to know the wider Imagination team via the newsletter profiles.

As a CFO, you are often tasked with solely focusing on the numbers – profits and numbers trending in the right direction are and will always be important – but when I joined Imagination, I was hoping there was a more altruistic purpose to the role. After spending some time in San Diego, I now fully understand there is a shared sense of purpose to improve cancer detection to help save lives. Working for a business that is dedicated to improving people's lives is something I can be proud of, and I look forward to continuing to support my team to achieve those goals.

We were pleased to provide you with a study update in relation to our MagSense® HER2 breast cancer Phase I study in March. I would like to reiterate Bob's sentiments in that it is indeed exciting to begin accumulating patient data and see the positive direction of the preliminary results. I do want to stress that the data is only preliminary, hence why full scientific results have not been released. This will come at a suitable time as the study progresses.

Although the Phase I study is a key part of our path forward for 2022, there are many other developments currently underway - including our work on prostate cancer and brain cancer. We anticipate sharing updates on these developments with you as they materialise throughout the year.

If anyone has any investor-related queries, please note that I can be reached at investor@imagionbio.com. I genuinely enjoy engaging with our shareholders and will always try to be prompt with my replies, please keep in mind there is only one of me though!

Thanks again to all our shareholders for your continued support and I look forward to sharing the year ahead with you all.
