Silk Logistics Holdings Limited (ASX: SLH) ('SLH', 'Silk' or 'the Company'), a leading provider of port-to-door technology enabled logistics, is pleased to announce the appointment of Dani Aquilina to the newly-created role of Chief Operating Officer ('COO') effective April 26 2022.

Her appointment comes at a time of significant growth for Silk, which achieved revenue of $182.4mn in H1 FY22, an increase of 18.5% on the prior corresponding period.

Ms. Aquilina is a values-driven and customer-centric leader who comes to Silk with a strong background in relevant strategy, supply chain and distribution leadership roles.

Ms. Aquilina brings 10 years of senior executive experience with The Reject Shop (ASX: TRS) where she most recently also served as COO. In this role, she was accountable for the value chain from factory to customer, delivering strategies to support growth and deliver operational efficiencies.

She holds a Master of Business (Logistics Management) from RMIT University.

Silk Chief Executive Officer Brendan Boyd said: "We are delighted to have Dani join the team. Dani has extensive experience as a dynamic and respected senior leader and has a high level of commitment and professionalism. We are confident that she will bring a passionate and focused approach to strengthen our growth strategy and build upon the outstanding work that continues to be delivered by our team".
