“We are really pleased with the technological advancements UNITH made to its Digital Human platform during the quarter, and very excited about the projects underway as we prepare our Self-Service Platform for launch in Q4 CY23. Our development team continued to make digital humans more human-like by improving response times to ‘near instant’ and focusing on more subtle details, such as lip movements and empathy generation.”

Integration of ChatGPT into our platform is progressing well and soon our avatars will be able to answer questions based on any data set provided. We also see great potential in our venture with NVISO, which integrates emotional and behavioural analytics into digital humans.

I would like to take the opportunity to thank our existing shareholders and welcome new ones who supported our recent Placement and Share Purchase Plan. Following the capital raise, we are well-funded to deliver further technology improvements, scale the platform and capitalise on the enormous opportunity within the conversational AI market.”

Operational Update

Digital Human Technology Division

During the quarter, UNITH made further enhancements to its Digital Human platform. Platform performance has been significantly improved and optimised for further scale with a server upgrade, providing near-instant conversation generation on any device and contributing to the humanisation of the digital humans. The human likeness of avatars is continuously being improved with the development team currently focused on enhancing lip movements and empathy generation, while improvements to head and body movements are planned for the second half of CY23.

In January 2023, UNITH announced a binding Heads of Agreement with NVISO Japan KK (“NVISO”), a leading provider of AI-enabled visual intelligence solutions, to integrate behavioural analytics into digital humans in conversational settings. The agreement provides NVISO with access to UNITH’s Digital Human Platform for integration with the NVISO platform, providing scale implementation of digital avatars in various target products and markets. Technical integrations were completed in April with pre-sale activity in collaboration with NVISO to commence in June. The first deployment of the interactive avatars through digital kiosks in Japan is expected in Q1 FY24. The project has been granted €74k (approx. $117k) by the EU-funded BonsAPPS program to assist with development costs.

UNITH is pleased to announce that it successfully delivered the first Digital Human to its Big-5-Tech client over the quarter, with the implementation of advanced cyber security encryption standards released in April 2023. This security implementation enabled the release of the Digital Human within the client, which was a major milestone for UNITH, as the Company’s cyber security was certified by a major technology company.

It is expected that the Digital Human will begin being utilised in May 2023, which will allow UNITH to gather analytics towards product improvements and support the self-service platform development. Following this, UNITH will begin the creation of the other two Digital Humans included as part of the Big-5 Tech agreement, and further upselling opportunities.

Separately, UNITH achieved successful test outcomes with the integration of ChatGPT to the Digital Human platform. Initial testing confirmed the platform’s ability to generate correct answers using small data sets (e.g. Wikipedia and company websites), while testing with larger data sets (e.g. employee handbooks and operating manuals) is underway and expected to be completed by June 2023. Once complete, the GPT integration enables ÜNITH's digital humans to provide improved and more personalised responses, enabling more human-like conversations and improving the overall user experience.

Mobile Subscription Division

The Mobile Subscription division continued to expand into new territories and added AI History to its suite of products. AI History, an edutainment product based on the Digital Human technology, offers users an interactive conversation-like platform to learn history with famous historical figures. AI History creates an additional revenue stream for ÜNITH, complementing Bedtime Stories and AstroVIP into the Company's existing range of Mobile Subscription products.

Over the quarter, ÜNITH secured further mobile network approvals to distribute its AI mobile subscription-based products in Kenya, Kazakhstan and Afghanistan, increasing the number of territories with access to the conversational AI applications to 13. Expanding activities into these new markets is a continuation of the Company's diversification strategy of entering new and unsaturated markets.

As a result of the successful product launch in the recently announced territories, the Company has recorded 20 times more signups for its AI-based mobile subscription products on a quarter-to-quarter basis.

In April, ÜNITH began a process to move all user acquisition activity for the Mobile Subscription division in-house. This is a major development for ÜNITH, as this is expected to reduce the customer acquisition costs, rather than going to third parties, and drives revenue growth in this part of the business.

New website launch

A new ÜNITH website was launched during the quarter, following the recent rebranding and name change of the Company. The new website is a user-friendly and comprehensive resource for facilitating a better understanding of ÜNITH's business while showcasing digital humans to existing and prospective customers, end-users and investors.

Successful capital raise to fund platform development and growth initiatives

During the quarter, ÜNITH successfully raised $4.5 million under a strongly supported Placement by institutional and sophisticated investors. In addition, the Company raised a further $271k through a Share Purchase Plan ("SPP").

The funds raised will be used to:

- Accelerate development and commercialisation of ÜNITH's products, including:
 - Ongoing development of the Digital Human platform;
 - Advancing ChatGPT-driven conversational AI features into the Digital Human platform.

- Strengthen sales and development teams through additional hires;
- Drive various sales and marketing initiatives across divisions; and
- General working capital needs and Placement costs.

Outlook

Commenting on the outlook, Mr Schmorak said: “We are excited to continue to build out our technology platform and work towards delivering our 2023 Roadmap. Our development team has been expanded and are focused on commercialisation activities that will enable ÜNITH to deliver on its growth strategy.

We will continue to work on the BIG-5 Tech client integration, with the expectation for Enterprise Go-to-Market and Initial Self Service Go-to-Market to occur in the second half of CY23. The NVISO collaboration is progressing well with physical display deployment in Japan to launch in Q1 FY24.

In the Mobile Subscription space, we will aim to add new territories to the AI products in coming quarters. The second half of CY23 will see the launch of the AI-powered customer support avatar for our subscription products and the expansion of AI services in Africa to further increase our geographical reach.

The demand for conversational AI is growing rapidly as businesses look to automate customer brand representation and support. We are well placed to continue to deliver on our goals for the remainder of CY23 and beyond and I look forward to updating you on our progress.”

Q3 FY23 Financial Update

- Net cash used in investing activities for the period was ($414K), which was mainly used for further investment in intellectual property.
- Net cash flow from financing activities was $4.1 million, mainly reflecting $4.5 million from the share placement less transaction fees.

This announcement has been authorised for release by the Board of Directors of Unith Ltd.
