Amcor reports third quarter result and updates fiscal 2023 outlook

March 2023 quarter:
GAAP EPS of 11.9 cps; Adjusted EPS of 17.5 cps

Highlights - Nine Months Ended March 31, 2023

- Net sales of $11,021 million, up 4%;
- GAAP Net income of $868 million, up 25%; GAAP diluted earnings per share (EPS) of 58.1 cps, up 27%;
- Adjusted EPS of 54.1 cps, up 4% on a comparable constant currency basis;
- Adjusted EBIT of $1,173 million, up 4% on a comparable constant currency basis;
- Strong cash returns to shareholders: quarterly dividend of 12.25 cents per share and $200 million of share repurchases year-to-date; and
- Fiscal 2023 outlook: Adjusted EPS and Free Cash Flow ranges updated to 72-74 cps and $800-900 million, respectively.

Amcor CEO Ron Delia said: “Through the first nine months of fiscal 2023, Amcor has delivered 4% higher adjusted earnings in comparable constant currency terms and returned approximately $750 million of cash to shareholders.

We were cautious on market dynamics entering the third quarter and continued to take decisive price and cost actions. These efforts helped offset continued softness and increased volatility in the demand environment leading to a modest 2.5% decline in adjusted EBIT for the third quarter.

We are confident in the strength of our underlying business, customer value proposition and execution capabilities. Our expectation that current market conditions will persist in the near-term means we are also laser focused on continued initiatives to recover inflation, drive cost productivity and advance previously announced structural cost reductions. We have adjusted our fiscal 2023 outlook to reflect the challenging operating environment and the actions we are taking give us confidence that earnings growth will build as we progress through fiscal 2024.

We remain focused on executing our strategy for long term value creation, which includes reinvesting in the business for organic growth, pursuing acquisitions and/or regular share repurchases and returning cash to shareholders through a compelling and growing dividend.”

Adjusted EBIT of $1,173 million was 4% higher than last year on a comparable constant currency basis. 	2022 $ million	2023 $ million
Net sales	8,184	8,378	2	3
Adjusted EBIT	1,069	1,043	(2)	5

Nine months ended March 31, 2023:

On a reported basis, net sales of $8,378 million were 2% higher than the same period last year, and includes an unfavorable impact of 5% related to movements in foreign exchange rates, an unfavorable impact of approximately 1% related to items affecting comparability and price increases of approximately $490 million (representing 6% growth) related to the pass through of higher raw material costs. Net sales on a comparable constant currency basis were 3% higher than the same period last year reflecting price/mix benefits of approximately 5%, partly offset by approximately 2% lower volumes.

In North America, net sales grew in the low single digit range driven by price/mix benefits, partly offset by lower volumes. Volumes were higher in the healthcare, pet care and home and personal care categories, and this was more than offset by lower volumes in categories including condiments, meat and ready meals.

In Europe, net sales grew in the mid single digit range driven by price/mix benefits, partly offset by lower volumes. Volumes were lower in coffee, home and personal care, yogurt, confectionary and medical. This was partly offset by higher volumes in pet care and pharmaceuticals.

Net sales were broadly in line with the prior year across the Asia Pacific region with price/mix benefits offset by lower volumes. Volumes were lower in China where demand was unfavorably impacted by COVID related lockdowns. Sales growth has remained strong in India, Australia and in the pan Asian healthcare and meat end markets. In Latin America, net sales grew at low single digit rates driven by favorable price/mix benefits, partly offset by lower volumes.

Adjusted EBIT of $1,043 million was 5% higher than the same period last year on a comparable constant currency basis, reflecting favorable operating cost performance partly offset by the impact of lower volumes and unfavorable mix trends.

Adjusted EBIT margin of 12.4% includes an adverse impact of approximately 80 basis points related to the increased sales dollars associated with passing through higher raw material costs.

March 2023 quarter:

On a reported basis, net sales of $2,787 million were 2% lower than the same quarter last year, and includes an unfavorable impact of 2% related to movements in foreign exchange rates, an unfavorable impact of 3% related to items affecting comparability and price increases of approximately $35 million (representing 1% growth) related to the pass through of higher raw material costs. In Europe, volumes declined in the mid single digit range and in North America, volumes declined in the low single digit range. In both businesses this reflects sequentially softer consumer demand along with customer destocking.

Adjusted EBIT of $337 million was 1% lower than the same quarter last year on a comparable constant currency basis, reflecting lower volumes and increased volatility, unfavorable mix trends and ongoing cost inflation. These unfavorable impacts were offset by benefits from cost reduction initiatives.

Rigid Packaging segment result

	Nine Months Ended March 31,		Reported Δ%	Comparable constant currency Δ%
	2022 $ million	2023 $ million
Net sales	2,451	2,643	8	(2)
Adjusted EBIT	194	192	(1)	—
Adjusted EBIT / Sales %	7.9	7.3

Nine months ended March 31, 2023:

On a reported basis, net sales of $2,643 million were 8% higher than the same period last year, which includes an unfavorable impact of 1% related to movements in foreign exchange rates and price increases of approximately $260 million (representing 11% growth) related to the pass through of higher raw material costs. Net sales on a comparable constant currency basis were 2% lower than the same period last year reflecting approximately 3% lower volumes, partly offset by price/mix benefits of approximately 1%.

In North America, overall beverage volumes were 5% lower than the same period last year. Hot fill beverage container volumes were up 2% as a result of continued growth in key categories, offset by lower combined preform and cold fill container volumes compared to the prior period. The specialty container business delivered volume growth in the healthcare, dairy and nutrition categories. Overall specialty container volumes were in line with last year.

In Latin America, volumes were 2% lower than last year with volume growth in Argentina and Mexico offset by lower volumes primarily in Colombia.

Adjusted EBIT of $192 million was in line with the same period last year on a comparable constant currency basis, reflecting lower volumes and unfavorable mix trends offset by favorable operating cost performance.

Adjusted EBIT margin of 7.3% includes an adverse impact of approximately 80 basis points related to the increased sales dollars associated with passing through higher raw material costs.

March 2023 quarter:

On a reported basis, net sales of $880 million were 1% higher than the same quarter last year, which includes an unfavorable impact of 1% related to movements in foreign exchange rates and price increases of approximately $50 million (representing 5% growth) related to the pass through of higher raw material costs. Net sales on a comparable constant currency basis were 4% lower than the same quarter last year reflecting lower volumes.

In North America, overall beverage volumes in the March 2023 quarter were 6% lower than the same quarter last year as a result of lower consumer demand and customer destocking more than offsetting new business wins. March 2023 quarter hot fill beverage container volumes were 1% higher than last year and outperformed the market. In Latin America, the business continued to be unfavorably impacted by soft demand across the region and volumes declined at mid single digit rates.

Adjusted EBIT of $69 million was 9% lower than the same quarter last year on a comparable constant currency basis reflecting lower volumes and increased volatility, unfavorable mix trends and ongoing cost inflation. These unfavorable impacts were partly offset by benefits from cost reduction initiatives.

Net interest and income tax expense

For the nine months ended March 31, 2023, net interest expense of $189 million was $89 million higher than the same period last year reflecting higher interest rates. GAAP income tax expense was $125 million compared with $196 million in the same period last year. Excluding amounts related to non-GAAP adjustments, adjusted tax expense for the nine months ended March 31, 2023 was $170 million compared with $232 million in the same period last year. Adjusted tax expense represents an effective tax rate of 17.2% which is lower than 21.2% in the same period last year, primarily due to differences in the mix of taxable income and discrete items in both periods.

Adjusted Free Cash Flow

For the nine months ended March 31, 2023, adjusted Free cash flow was $14 million compared with $263 million in the same period last year. Compared with last year, the variance reflects lower accounts payable balances resulting from moderated purchasing activities due to inventory reduction initiatives and lower sales volumes in fiscal 2023. March 2023 quarter adjusted Free cash flow of $76 million compares with $158 million in the same quarter last year.

Net debt was $6,449 million at March 31, 2023. Leverage, measured as net debt divided by adjusted trailing twelve month EBITDA, was 3.1 times.

Fiscal 2023 guidance - updated

For the twelve month period ending June 30, 2023, assuming current foreign exchange rates prevail through the balance of the year, the Company expects:

- Adjusted EPS on a reported basis of 72 to 74 cents per share (previously lower end of 77 to 81 cents per share). Updated adjusted EPS expectations include:
 - A comparable constant currency earnings decline of 1-4%. This is comprised of:
 - Earnings from the underlying business in line with last year. This assumes the demand environment in the fourth quarter will remain weak and volatile resulting in a mid single digit decline in overall volumes compared with last year;
 - a benefit of approximately 2% from share repurchases;
 - a negative impact of approximately 4% related to higher combined interest and tax expense.
 - Sale of the Company's three plants in Russia on December 23, 2022 resulting in an unfavorable impact of approximately 3%; and
 - A stronger US dollar driving an unfavorable currency impact of approximately 4%.
- Adjusted Free Cash Flow of approximately $800 million to $900 million (previously lower end of $1.0 billion to $1.1 billion) which reflects updated working capital and cash earnings expectations.
- Up to $500 million of cash to be allocated towards share repurchases.

Amcor's guidance contemplates a range of factors which create a degree of uncertainty and complexity when estimating future financial results, and is provided in the context of greater than usual volatility in demand. The Company provides guidance on a non-GAAP basis as we are unable to predict with reasonable certainty the ultimate outcome and timing of certain significant forward-looking items without unreasonable effort. Further information can be found under 'Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements' in this release.

Presentation of non-GAAP information

Included in this release are measures of financial performance that are not calculated in accordance with U.S. GAAP. These measures include adjusted EBITDA and EBITDA (calculated as earnings before interest and tax and depreciation and amortization), adjusted EBIT and EBIT (calculated as earnings before interest and tax), adjusted net income, adjusted earnings per share, adjusted free cash flow and net debt. In arriving at these non-GAAP measures, we exclude items that either have a non-recurring impact on the income statement or which, in the judgment of our management, are items that, either as a result of their nature or size, could, were they not singled out, potentially cause investors to extrapolate future performance from an improper base. Note although amortization of acquired intangible assets is excluded from non-GAAP adjusted financial measures, the revenue of the acquired entities and all other expenses unless otherwise stated, are reflected in our non-GAAP financial performance earnings measures. While not all inclusive, examples of these items include:

- material restructuring programs, including associated costs such as employee severance, pension and related benefits, impairment of property and equipment and other assets, accelerated depreciation, termination payments for contracts and leases, contractual obligations, and any other qualifying costs related to the restructuring plan;
- material sales and earnings from disposed or ceased operations and any associated profit or loss on sale of businesses or subsidiaries;
- impairments in goodwill and equity method investments;
- material acquisition compensation and transaction costs such as due diligence expenses, professional and legal fees, and integration costs;
- material purchase accounting adjustments for inventory;
- amortization of acquired intangible assets from business combination;
- significant property impairments, net of insurance recovery;
- payments or settlements related to legal claims;
- impacts from hyperinflation accounting; and
- impacts related to the Russia-Ukraine conflict.

Amcor also evaluates performance on a comparable constant currency basis, which measures financial results assuming constant foreign currency exchange rates used for translation based on the average rates in effect for the comparable prior year period. In order to compute comparable constant currency results, we multiply or divide, as appropriate, current-year U.S. dollar results by the current year average foreign exchange rates and then multiply or divide, as appropriate, those amounts by the prior-year average foreign exchange rates. We then adjust for other items affecting comparability. While not all inclusive, examples of items affecting comparability include the difference between sales or earnings in the current period and the prior period related to acquired, disposed, or ceased operations. Comparable constant currency net sales performance also excludes the impact from passing through movements in raw material costs.

Management has used and uses these measures internally for planning, forecasting and evaluating the performance of the Company’s reporting segments and certain of the measures are used as a component of Amcor’s Board of Directors’ measurement of Amcor’s performance for incentive compensation purposes. Amcor believes that these non-GAAP measures are useful to enable investors to perform comparisons of current and historical performance of the Company. For each of these non-GAAP financial measures, a reconciliation to the most directly comparable U.S. GAAP financial measure has been provided herein. These non-GAAP financial measures should not be construed as an alternative to results determined in accordance with U.S. GAAP. The Company provides guidance on a non-GAAP basis as we are unable to predict with reasonable certainty the ultimate outcome and timing of certain significant forward-looking items without unreasonable effort. These items include but are not limited to the impact of foreign exchange translation, restructuring program costs, asset impairments, possible gains and losses on the sale of assets, and certain tax related events. These items are uncertain, depend on various factors, and could have a material impact on U.S. GAAP earnings and cash flow measures for the guidance period.

Dividends

Amcor has received a waiver from the ASX’s settlement operating rules, which will allow the Company to defer processing conversions between its ordinary share and CDI registers from May 23, 2023 to May 24, 2023, inclusive.

Presentation of non-GAAP information

Included in this release are measures of financial performance that are not calculated in accordance with U.S. GAAP. These measures include adjusted EBITDA and EBITDA (calculated as earnings before interest and tax and depreciation and amortization), adjusted EBIT and EBIT (calculated as earnings before interest and tax), adjusted net income, adjusted earnings per share, adjusted free cash flow and net debt. In arriving at these non-GAAP measures, we exclude items that either have a non-recurring impact on the income statement or which, in the judgment of our management, are items that, either as a result of their nature or size, could, were they not singled out, potentially cause investors to extrapolate future performance from an improper base. Note although amortization of acquired intangible assets is excluded from non-GAAP adjusted financial measures, the revenue of the acquired entities and all other expenses unless otherwise stated, are reflected in our non-GAAP financial performance earnings measures. While not all inclusive, examples of these items include:

- material restructuring programs, including associated costs such as employee severance, pension and related benefits, impairment of property and equipment and other assets, accelerated depreciation, termination payments for contracts and leases, contractual obligations, and any other qualifying costs related to the restructuring plan;
- material sales and earnings from disposed or ceased operations and any associated profit or loss on sale of businesses or subsidiaries;
- impairments in goodwill and equity method investments;
- material acquisition compensation and transaction costs such as due diligence expenses, professional and legal fees, and integration costs;
- material purchase accounting adjustments for inventory;
- amortization of acquired intangible assets from business combination;
- significant property impairments, net of insurance recovery;
- payments or settlements related to legal claims;
- impacts from hyperinflation accounting; and
- impacts related to the Russia-Ukraine conflict.

Amcor also evaluates performance on a comparable constant currency basis, which measures financial results assuming constant foreign currency exchange rates used for translation based on the average rates in effect for the comparable prior year period. In order to compute comparable constant currency results, we multiply or divide, as appropriate, current-year U.S. dollar results by the current year average foreign exchange rates and then multiply or divide, as appropriate, those amounts by the prior-year average foreign exchange rates. We then adjust for other items affecting comparability. While not all inclusive, examples of items affecting comparability include the difference between sales or earnings in the current period and the prior period related to acquired, disposed, or ceased operations. Comparable constant currency net sales performance also excludes the impact from passing through movements in raw material costs.

Management has used and uses these measures internally for planning, forecasting and evaluating the performance of the Company's reporting segments and certain of the measures are used as a component of Amcor's Board of Directors' measurement of Amcor's performance for incentive compensation purposes. Amcor believes that these non-GAAP measures are useful to enable investors to perform comparisons of current and historical performance of the Company. For each of these non-GAAP financial measures, a reconciliation to the most directly comparable U.S. GAAP financial measure has been provided herein. These non-GAAP financial measures should not be construed as an alternative to results determined in accordance with U.S. GAAP. The Company provides guidance on a non-GAAP basis as we are unable to predict with reasonable certainty the ultimate outcome and timing of certain significant forward-looking items without unreasonable effort. These items include but are not limited to the impact of foreign exchange translation, restructuring program costs, asset impairments, possible gains and losses on the sale of assets, and certain tax related events. These items are uncertain, depend on various factors, and could have a material impact on U.S. GAAP earnings and cash flow measures for the guidance period.
