Amaero International Limited (ASX:3DA)

First Atomiser To Be Dedicated to Refractory Alloy, C-103

Amaero International Limited (ASX:3DA) (“Amaero” or “the Company”) is pleased to announce that it will host an Investor Briefing on Wednesday, 27 September at 11:30am AEST. Amaero Chairman and CEO, Hank Holland will be joined by Eric Bono, President and CTO.

Amaero Chairman and CEO Hank J. Holland said: “For the past nine months, Amaero has described the opportunity in alloy powder production as “titanium and specialty alloy powder;” yet, we have provided financial guidance based on solely producing titanium alloy powder. Based on the critical need for refractory alloy powders for hypersonic applications, we will now dedicate production of the first atomiser to C-103. The Niobium alloy’s high performance and heat-resistant properties are utilised in hypersonic and space applications. The determination of production priority and production mix is a direct response to the industry’s demand pull. The production of C-103 powder is expected to be beneficial to the Company. We look forward to updating investors and taking questions.”
