

June 2024 Q2 Quarterly Report & Business Update

Performance Highlights

Elsight is delighted to report an 83% increase in H1/24 revenue compared with the same period last year as its Halo connectivity system continues to verify its ideal product fit for the global defence & Homeland Security markets.

Recurrent revenue has maintained its quarterly increase, a consistent trend over the past two years. 8 new Design-Win commercial customers were acquired in Q2, including Aerodrome Group offering aerial intelligence to multiple industries and Event38 supplying drones for markets such as Oil & Gas inspections. 42 are recurring customers, including DroneUP (US), defence organizations, Airobotics (US), and Farada (Poland).

News Highlights:

- Lockheed Martin, the U.S. defence giant contracted with Elsight to integrate the Halo platform to its Indago4 Quadcopter.
- ACSL, Japan's largest drone manufacturer, will use Elsight's Halo in its drones for logistics.
- Event38 and AviSight announced the selection of Elsight's Halo in its inspections of large Oil & Gas pipelines in the U.S.
- Co-founder & CTO, Roe Kashi, was elected to the GSMA Drone Interest Group, to lead innovation between mobile operators and uncrewed aerial vehicles.

Elsight Limited (ASX: ELS) (Elsight or the Company), the carrier agnostic, AI-powered connectivity solutions company, is pleased to provide the following Business Update, outlining the Company's achievements over the second quarter and first half of 2024.

Continued growth as Elsight focuses more on defence industries

Historically at Elsight, Q1 and Q2 have been the two weakest quarters of each year. Yet, for the second consecutive quarter in 2024, Elsight verified its ideal product fit for the global defence & Homeland Security markets in various geographies, leading to an increased level of revenue from H1 2024 orders of 83% over H1 2023.

Although Q2/24 revenue was lower than the previous quarter (Q1/24), it was 42% higher than Q2/23 the same corresponding period. Elsight's expanded focus required greater marketing and sales investment to penetrate the defence market and a much longer sale cycle means that it will take time to show results primarily due to governmental procurement timeframes. In Q4/23 much of the revenue increase came from urgently needed defence and HLS orders marked by a relatively reduced red tape. Now that Elsight is a recognized supplier and the urgency subsided, the procurement process is longer. However, this is a matured market with a much higher sale consistency in comparison to the Company's traditional commercial drone delivery market which is still in its early stages. In the future, this should help Elsight in its rate of QoQ revenue increase and accuracy of revenue predictions. In addition, marketing investment continued to maintain and increase the Company's exposure in the current commercial market.

Revenue Growth (US$k)

Burn rate

After a dramatic decline in Burn Rate during Q1 24, Elsieht's Burn Rate in Q2/24 adjusted up to $565K reflecting this increased marketing investment required for new market penetration (e.g. events, content and collateral creation, ABM strategies etc.) together with somewhat temporary slower sales results in the Q. However, this burn-rate level remains lower than the previous year (Q2/23) by $208k or 27%.

Recurring revenue

Elsieht's business model of recurring revenue includes connectivity and Elsieht's "Allsight cloud". In Q2/24 there was a 260% increase over Q2/23, and a 25% increase from Q2/24 over Q1/24.

Governments around the world are increasingly investing in drone technology

During the second quarter of 2024, the Company continued to receive orders from the defence and Homeland Security sectors. Much from the feedback from the "field" has accredited Elsieht's Halo as the key to unbroken communications in tactical operations of various defence organizations. The first half of 2024 has increased over H1/23 by USD 474K or 376% in defence revenue. Many announcements have been publicized on recent investments in governments around the world for drone and component budgets including the U.S., the U.K., Sweden, and more.

Propelling Elsieht's penetration in unmanned aerial systems, unmanned ground systems (UGS) and mission-critical communication scenarios, is the growth of the robotics market. A recent research report from ética Capital, "Robotics: Rise of drones and unmanned aerial vehicles" speaks to a projected estimate of AU$1.012 billion in robotics revenue just in Australia in 2024.

The Company's Design-Win partners are showing continued development, scale, and loyalty.

- Lockheed Martin, a new design-win partner and the U.S. giant in the defence industry contracted with Elsieht to integrate the Halo platform to its Indago4 Quadcopter.
- ACSL, a new design-win partner, and Japan's largest drone manufacturer, will use Elsieht's Halo in its drones for delivery logistics and deliveries, and selected Elsieht for the Halo's ability to manage over hilly terrain. This win was the first with a regional partner, Navicom, who has begun to manage the sales and support of Elsieht in parts of Asia.
- DroneUp, a world-leading U.S.-based drone delivery company serving the retail giant Walmart and others, accelerates its activities since the US Government passed a bill encouraging the growth of the commercial drone industry, particularly a section that mandates the FAA to develop a final rule for the operation of drones beyond the visual line of sight (BVLOS) in a little more than a year. In the wake of the FAA new decision, DroneUp announced its plans for major US expansion after FAA reauthorization boosts drone industry when stated that "the authorization bill is probably one of the biggest things to help the advancement of drones into the national airspace, maybe even bigger than Part 107" (Anthony Vittone, DroneUp's COO).
- Event38 and AviSight, a new design-win for Elsieht, Event38 a manufacturer of unmanned aerial vehicles in the US and its customer Avisight, a provider of critical infrastructure inspections, selected the Halo for more precise inspections of Oil & Gas lines throughout difficult terrain.

About Elsieht

Elsieht (ASX: ELS) (www.elsieht.com) Elsieht's flagship product, the Halo, uses AI-based multi-link bonding to provide the most robust connectivity for drones and other unmanned systems. By adding cellular communications aggregated with satellite and RF communications, the Halo is 99.99% reliable and cyber-secured. With options for less than a 100-gram card or a boxed ground version, the Halo provides continuous connectivity even in the most challenging areas for stationary, portable, or actively mobile situational requirements. Elsieht's products serve many vertical markets leveraging UAV and UAS technologies, including defense, HLS, public safety, delivery, medical, oil and gas, utilities, inspections, surveillance, and others. Elsieht was founded in 2009.
