Portfolio delivers outperformance in strong markets.

Half Year Report to 31 December 2024

AMCIL manages a focused portfolio of high-quality companies that is expected to deliver above-market growth over the long term. Within this concentrated portfolio, large, mid and small companies can have an equally important impact on portfolio returns.

Half Year Profit after tax was $3.6 million, down 12.6% from the previous corresponding period last year. This decline was primarily because of lower levels of activity in the trading and options portfolio during this period in comparison to the prior corresponding period.

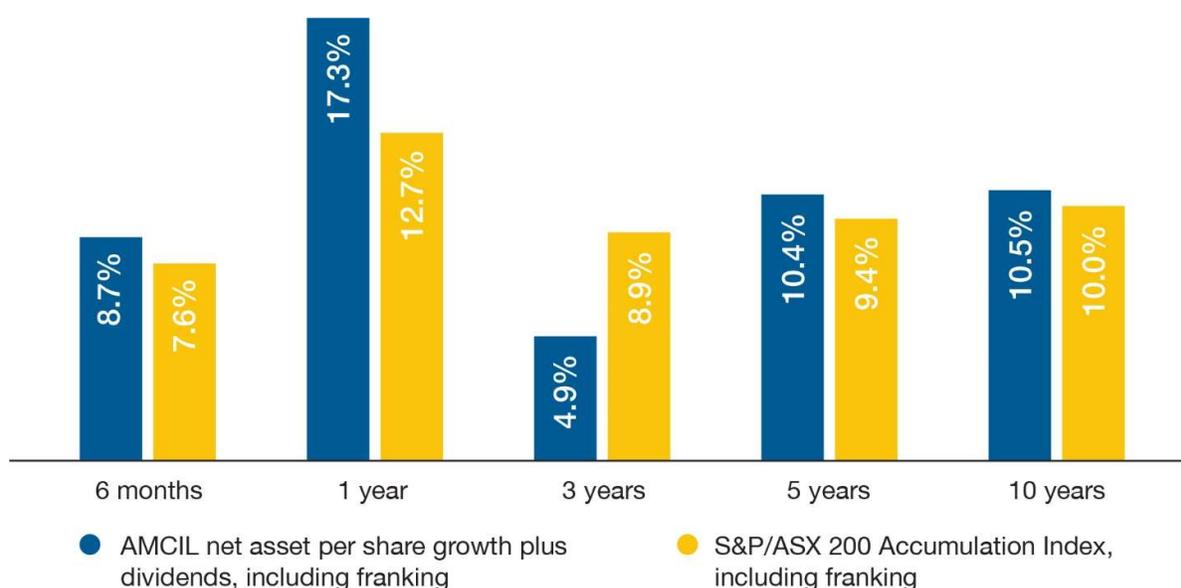

The Board has declared an interim dividend of 1.0 cent per share fully franked, the same as the interim dividend last year.

AMCIL's six-month portfolio return to 31 December 2024 was 8.7% including franking. The S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index return over this period was 7.6% including franking. The corresponding figures for the 12-months to 31 December 2024 were 17.3% and 12.7% respectively.

Importantly given AMCIL focuses on long term investment returns, portfolio outperformance has been achieved when measured across five, 10 and even 15-year periods.

Over the six-month period the portfolio benefited from the broadening of holdings over the calendar year, with the stronger relative performance to the Index coming from new holdings Sigma Healthcare, Redox Limited, Technology One and Block. Long term holdings Netwealth Group and ResMed also performed strongly for the portfolio.

Portfolio return (including the full benefit of franking and after costs) – per annum to 31 December 2024 (other than six months)

AMCIL's performance numbers are after costs. The Index returns exclude the impact of any tax or costs. Past performance is not indicative of future performance.

Market Commentary and Portfolio Performance

The Australian share market over the six months continued to deliver strong returns, although there was large divergence across different sectors.

The S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index produced a return of 7.6% over the six months to 31 December 2024 when franking is included. The Information Technology and Banking sectors were up strongly over the six-month period and were key drivers of market performance. These sectors in particular benefited from the general uplift in valuations which was common across the market in response to the perception that global interest rates have peaked because of diminishing growth in inflation.

AMCIL's portfolio over this period was up 8.7%, including the benefit of franking, well ahead of the Index return.

As attractive investment opportunities were actioned in several smaller companies over the calendar year, the portfolio became less concentrated, with the top 20 holdings accounting for approximately 70% of the portfolio versus 77% this time last year. The number of holdings increased from 41 to 48 companies over this 12-month period.

These additions have produced strong returns and include relatively new holdings Sigma Healthcare, Redox Limited, Technology One and Block.

The underweight portfolio position in the Resources sector, which underperformed over the six-month period also contributed to relative outperformance. It was a conscious decision to be underweight in this sector given our concerns about the outlook for growth in China. This position helped offset the underweight position AMCIL has in the strongly performing Banking sector which reached very high valuations through the period, particularly for the Commonwealth Bank of Australia.

This trend extended to the 12-month portfolio performance which was up 17.3% including franking in comparison to the S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index which was up 12.7% including franking over this period.

The long-term performance of the portfolio, which is better aligned with the Company's investment timeframes, was 10.5% per annum for the 10 years to 31 December 2024. This compares with the Index return over the same period of 10.0% per annum. Both of these figures include the benefit of franking. AMCIL's performance numbers are after costs.

Portfolio Adjustments

Our approach in AMCIL is to buy a focused portfolio of companies that pass our quality criteria at times when value is on offer. These opportunities can arise under various circumstances, for example when there is short-term bad news in the companies themselves or more generally across the market, when the growth potential of a company is not fully reflected in its valuation despite having strong share price momentum or when companies raise capital for attractive reinvestment opportunities.

In looking to construct the portfolio AMCIL has always had a strong position in larger stable companies that while not having the highest expected growth rates still provide attractive returns when purchased at the right price. In this context Amcor was added to the portfolio following the announcement of its takeover of Berry Global Group given the company's strong track record of delivering on synergies on previous acquisitions. The addition of regional shopping centres business, Region Group, with its attractive dividend yield at the time of purchase and easing of operational headwinds also fits into this category.

We continue to be attracted to quality "owner driver businesses" where management and board members have significant shareholdings. These companies generally have a strong alignment between management and shareholder interests. These companies can be smaller but deliver strong long-term returns. In this context, Sigma Healthcare is a new addition to the portfolio, noting that this holding provides access to the anticipated IPO of Chemist Warehouse. Other new additions of note with these characteristics were EVT, an operator of cinemas, hotels, resorts and restaurants with management focused on realising latent value from the portfolio of difficult to replicate assets, and Life360 at an attractive price given its long-term growth opportunity. We also added further to the holding in WiseTech Global when the share price was under short term pressure.

The most material sales in the half year were in the Commonwealth Bank of Australia, Wesfarmers and Westpac Banking Corporation as share price valuations, in our view, ran up to extreme levels. It was deemed appropriate to recycle capital from these positions to pursue attractive buying opportunities elsewhere in the market. Other major sales during the period involved the complete exit from the position in Mineral Resources, given the disappointing corporate governance practices that have emerged, and PEXA, given the investment thesis has not matched our original expectations.

Outlook

Despite uncertainty about economic growth and the timing of interest rates falls in Australia, market valuations have remained elevated in the second half of the calendar year, with the ASX 200 Index reaching a record high through this period.

As a result, we are taking a cautious approach to new investments. However, recent history shows that even with these conditions, opportunities can arise by identifying and actioning investment in quality growth companies early, and more broadly during market dislocations. In particular, the large variance in sector performance can reverse quickly when valuations are high and the market moves on to looking for pockets of value elsewhere.

In an environment of high costs and anticipated subdued economic conditions the outlook for corporate earnings in the upcoming company reporting season will be closely monitored. AMCIL is well positioned with a good level of liquidity at its disposal should opportunities arise. We are also reassured by the quality of companies in the portfolio and their ability to deliver satisfactory returns despite any short-term pressures they may confront.

Based on our review, which is not an audit, we have not become aware of any matter that makes us believe that the accompanying half-year financial report of AMCIL Limited does not comply with the Corporations Act 2001 including:

1. giving a true and fair view of the Company's financial position as at 31 December 2024 and of its performance for the half-year ended on that date
2. complying with Accounting Standard AASB 134 Interim Financial Reporting and the Corporations Regulations 2001.

Basis for conclusion

We are independent of the Company in accordance with the auditor independence requirements of the Corporations Act 2001 and the ethical requirements of the Accounting Professional & Ethical Standards Board's APES 110 Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (including Independence Standards) (the Code) that are relevant to the audit of the annual financial report in Australia. Auditor's responsibilities for the review of the half-year financial report

Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on the half-year financial report based on our review. ASRE 2410 requires us to conclude whether we have become aware of any matter that makes us believe that the half-year financial report is not in accordance with the Corporations Act 2001 including giving a true and fair view of the Company's financial position as at 31 December 2024 and of its performance for the half-year ended on that date, and complying with Accounting Standard AASB 134 Interim Financial Reporting and the Corporations Regulations 2001.

A review of a half-year financial report consists of making enquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.
