

AVITA Medical's RECELL Platform Recognized for Surgical Innovation in 2025 MedTech Breakthrough Awards

VALENCIA, Calif., June 3, 2025 – AVITA Medical, Inc. (NASDAQ: RCEL, ASX: AVH), a leading therapeutic acute wound care company delivering a portfolio of transformative solutions, today announced that RECELL®, including RECELL® GO, has been recognized as the “Best New Technology Solution – Surgical” in the 2025 MedTech Breakthrough Awards.

RECELL, FDA-approved for thermal burn wounds and full-thickness skin defects, has treated over 30,000 patients worldwide. RECELL requires significantly less donor skin than traditional grafting, reducing donor-site pain and accelerating recovery. Additional clinical outcomes include fewer procedures, improved functional and aesthetic results, and shorter hospital stays.

RECELL GO retains these clinical benefits while enhancing procedural consistency and surgical team coordination, with the physician remaining central throughout the procedure. This design supports adoption in high-volume burn and trauma centers, and enables scalable, cost-efficient deployment across acute wound care settings.

“We appreciate this recognition, which highlights RECELL’s advantages in burn and trauma care,” said Jim Corbett, Chief Executive Officer of AVITA Medical. “By requiring significantly less donor skin than traditional grafting, RECELL reduces donor-site pain, accelerates healing and improves patient outcomes. We remain committed to expanding access and advancing care for patients.”

The MedTech Breakthrough Awards honor companies and products shaping healthcare’s future. The 2025 program drew over 4,500 nominations globally.

In addition to this recognition, Dr. Katie Bush, Senior Vice President of Scientific & Medical Affairs of AVITA Medical, was awarded the 2025 Emerald Pinnacle Healthcare Award in the Medical Device category. The Pinnacle Award celebrates companies and individuals who have demonstrated exceptional innovation, leadership, and impact in healthcare.
