Opening of 95 Express Lanes Project in Northern Virginia, USA

Transurban announces that it expects to commence tolling on the 95 Express Lanes on 29 December 2014. The project is expected to be delivered ahead of schedule and budget, with a strong safety record, evidenced by more than 3.8 million work hours to date without a lost time injury.

The early completion of the roadway improvements from the 95 Express Lanes has allowed the new lanes and ramps completed as part of the project to be opened to motorists on 14 December 2014. Existing High Occupancy Vehicle rules are expected to remain in place until midnight on 28 December 2014 as a means to support travellers through the major transition to tolling on the Express Lanes.

Transurban CEO Scott Charlton said the completion of the 95 Express Lanes project was a significant development in Transurban's network of managed lanes in Northern Virginia. "The 95 Express Lanes will alleviate pressure in this critical corridor and provide motorists with an option offering more reliable travel times on this congested network."

Transurban holds a 77.5% interest in the 95 Express Lanes.
