SA Health Update

2 April 2015: Further to the announcements by Global Health Limited (the Company) on 21 November 2014 and 26 November 2014 respectively, the Company advises that the South Australian Minister for Health's licence of the CHIRON patient administration software (CHIRON) expired at midnight, South Australia time, on 31 March 2015.

The Company has advised the Minister that South Australian Health (SA Health) is obliged to cease the usage of CHIRON after 31 March 2015. The Minister has indicated that SA Health intends to continue to use CHIRON, pursuant to a purported statutory right to do so (which includes the fixing of terms) under section 183 of the Copyright Act 1968 (Cth). The Company disputes the Minister's entitlement to do so, and will take such legal action against the Minister as is necessary to protect its rights, including proceedings in the Federal Court alleging infringement of copyright and breach of contract.
