Property Funds Management Division

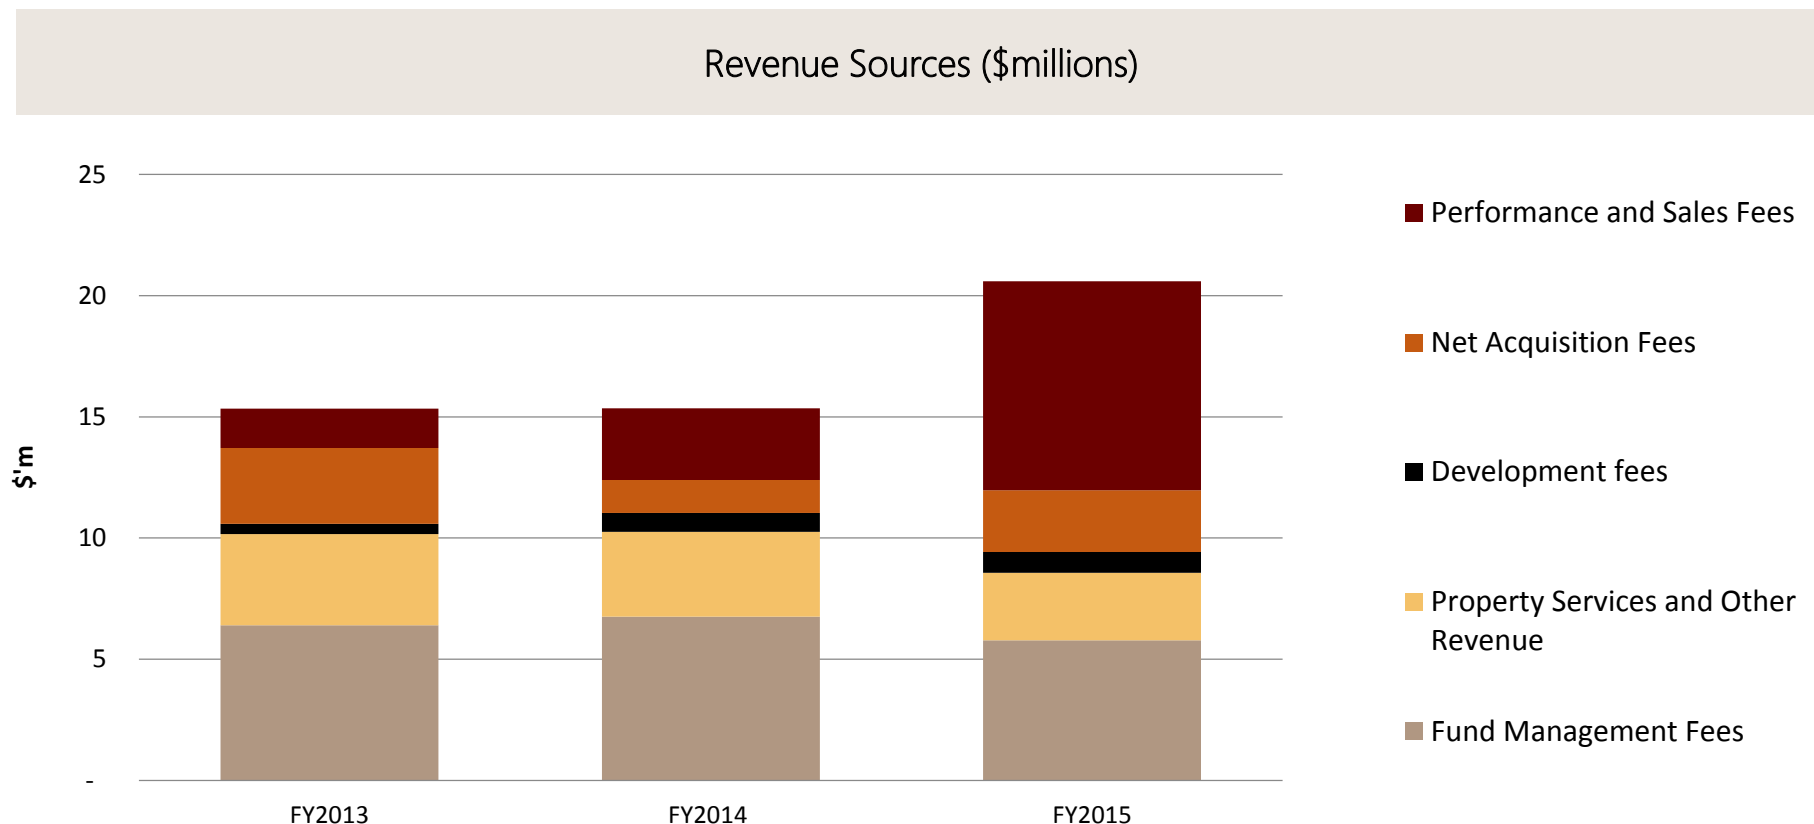

Property Funds Management Division

- Creation of Listed Property business unit and downstream development model creates two new revenue and profit streams for the Group which are directly on-strategy and will be significant profit generators in the near term.
- Centuria Metropolitan REIT (CMA) successfully listed on the ASX in December 2014 with $183 million diversified portfolio.
- Launched Centuria 2 Wentworth Street (Parramatta) Fund and acquired the remaining 50% interest in Channel Seven Building, Australia Technology Park, Sydney.

- Centuria commenced construction of 62 residential units in Mosman, Sydney for Belmont Road Development fund.
- Asian investor base now established. Singapore operations relocated to Australia.

FY15 Property Funds Management Division

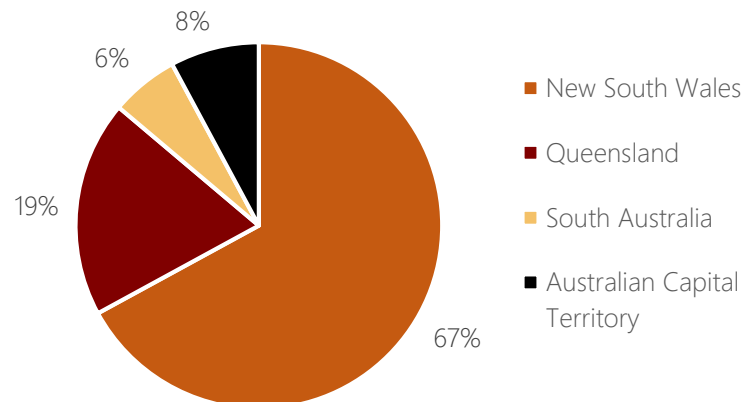

- Significant performance and sales fees contributed to a stand-out FY2015 result for the division.
- Core unlisted property FUM fluctuating to a limited extent as the unlisted property division reacts to property cycles (see comments slide 14). Unlisted Property FUM exhibits an inverse relationship to level of performance fees.
- Core listed property FUM will generally increase in a predictable manner.

FY15 Property Funds Management Division

Unlisted Property Funds Management

- Strong property market allowed Centuria to realise on thirteen mature assets driving significant profits for investors and releasing substantial performance fees for Centuria.
- Prevailing low interest rates afford Centuria an extended period to market unlisted vehicles with a comparative advantage to traditional fixed interest investments.
- Purchased 2-10 Wentworth Street, Parramatta for $45 million. Over 500 Reservations of Interest received for the required equity and the fund raising closed oversubscribed two weeks early.
- Purchased remaining 50% interest in 8 Central Avenue, Australia Technology Park (Channel Seven Building) for $109 million. $64 million capital raising most heavily oversubscribed offer in history of company closing five weeks early.
- Commenced construction of 62 apartments at Belmont Road, Mosman. The first example of Centuria co-investing with property investors to reposition an existing passive office trust - maximising investor returns and releasing substantial development management and performance fees to Centuria at completion of the project.
- Increased development team capability to take advantage of existing residential development pipeline. One project at an advanced stage is the repositioning of an existing mature Macquarie Park, Sydney office property into a 350 apartment residential project.

Unlisted Property Funds Management

Strategy and Outlook

- Create differentiated property investment products to suit a range of investor risk/return requirements:
 - Passive: High quality modern assets producing income returns superior to traditional fixed term investments.
 - Core-Plus: Assets producing an income return with potential for capital growth through repositioning or refurbishment.
 - Value Add: Generally mature office/industrial assets where Centuria has identified the opportunity for further potential such as residential redevelopment.
- Centuria's strategy is to co-invest with existing clients providing underwriting where required and retaining short term equity stakes where returns exceed Centuria's cost of capital.
- With a sixteen-year track record, Centuria is well positioned to analyse property cycles - at certain times there will be a bias towards selling into a strong market and at other times a bias towards acquisition at attractive prices in a weaker market.
- In certain cycles acquisitions will drive earnings and at others, performance and sale fees will be greater.
- To diversify earnings from the traditional "syndicate" model Centuria has established the listed CMA REIT and Centuria's redevelopment/co-investment vehicles.
