

Bellamy's Organic enters strategic manufacturing arrangement with Fonterra Australia

In a move that further secures its continuing sustainable growth, Bellamy's Organic (Bellamy's) has entered into a multi-million dollar strategic manufacturing arrangement with Fonterra Australia.

The agreement means Fonterra's Australian premier infant formula manufacturing plant at Darnum, in southeast Victoria, will manufacture a range of new baby nutritional powders for Bellamy's over five years.

Bellamy's Australia Ltd CEO and Managing Director, Laura McBain, said "We have been working throughout this year to seamlessly add capacity so that we can meet the growing demand for our certified organic formulas from Australian parents and our export markets. This arrangement means that significant additional capacity would be available to Bellamy's, adding to its current capabilities".

The world-class facility at Darnum maintains Bellamy's commitment to the highest quality manufacturing standards for all its products and its continuing commitment to Australian made. The Bellamy's Organic Compliance Team, in partnership with the Fonterra Quality Team, will expedite the organic certification of the facility.

Manufacturing will commence mid 2016.
