Straits' Executive Chairman Andre Labuschagne said: "This is a fantastic achievement and a credit to the hard work and dedication of the team. The focus over the last 18 months has been around consistency in both the mining operations and processing plant. This strategy has enabled us to move from being "mine constrained" to a point now where the pressure is on the processing plant, which I am proud to say has stepped up and just completed a record level of milled tonnes in the year. Our focus in the coming year is to maintain this momentum at an operational level by driving further cost and productivity improvements."
